NO. 128—EIGHTY-FOURTH YEAR | VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, TUESDAY, MAY 12, 1942 | EIGHTEEN PAGES

RECORD BAG SCORED OF AXIS PLANES OVER MALTA AT WEEK-END

Seventy Destroyed or Damaged Since Saturday—Over Sixty Downed in Sunday Fighting by Royal Air Force and Ground Batteries—Sir William Dobbie Decorated

VALETTA, May 11 (CP).—Aided by reinforcements flown in from Egypt, the R.A.F. joined ground batteries in destroying or damaging seventy Axis aircraft over Malta since Saturday midnight, a record bag, British headquarters announced tonight.

Twenty-five raiders were knocked down for certain, twenty more were listed as probables and twenty-five were damaged.

In Sunday's fighting alone the island's defenders accounted for sixty-three enemy craft—forty-two of them listed as knocked down, or probably destroyed and twenty-one damaged. Fighters shot down three more today and damaged four.

In the forty-eight hours ending Sunday midnight twenty-nine Axis bombers and fighters were blasted, twenty-seven probably destroyed and thirty-seven damaged—all this at a cost of only three R.A.F. fighters.

TWO HEAVY RAIDS

Two heavy raids were aimed at Malta late yesterday, the first by fighter-escorted Italian bombers and the second by Germans.

Heavy and light artillery threw up one of the fiercest barrages ever witnessed on this island—which is saying a lot, for this most-bombed spot on earth has produced some earth shakers during more than 2,300 Axis attacks since the war started.

Three German bombers were destroyed and several more were believed to have been damaged in these attacks. R.A.F. bombers accounted for four more bombers and seven fighters.

The R.A.F. striking back with equal and sometimes superior forces, clearly dominated the week-end fighting over the island.

SIMPLY MURDER

One official said the island's great strong defences made it simply murder for the Axis airmen to continue the assault. He expressed hope this would force the Germans and Italians to call off their hopeless siege.

TOURIST FUEL QUOTA REDUCED

Owing to Gasoline Shortage Visitors to Canada Get Small Allowance

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP).—The gasoline ration allowance for United States and other tourists in Canada will be drastically reduced, May 15, Munitions Minister Howe announced today.

A departmental statement said the action was taken because of the increasing gravity of the gasoline shortage in Canada.

A new order issued by Co. Controller G. R. Cottrelle of Toronto and approved by R. C. Berkinshaw, chairman of the Wartime Industries Control Board, will abolish the twenty-unit coupon book which has been provided for tourists remaining in Canada more than forty-eight hours. This book is good for 100 Imperial gallons under the present quota.

The order provides that if a United States or foreign car owner proposes to stay in Canada long enough to need more gasoline than he has in his tank at the time he enters the country he will be given at the border a ration book permitting the purchase of four units—twenty gallons.

STAMP ON LICENCE

No more than one of these four-unit coupon books will be issued for any one car in any one year. To make it impossible to obtain a second coupon book, the Canadian customs officer will stamp the vehicle licence to show that a coupon book has been issued.

The order will make it clear that the responsibility for not running short of gasoline is up to the tourist himself. If he runs out of coupons he will be given no more and will have to arrange some other method of transporting his car back to the United States, for example, by freight.

It is unfortunate that so drastic a step has become necessary, said Mr. Howe. "In view of the seriousness of the gasoline shortage in Canada it was unavoidable. Faced themselves with very severe restrictions made necessary because of a shortage in the United States, many thousands of friends in that country will, I am sure, understand and approve our action."

Churchill Tells Germany Of Mighty Bombing Offensive Coming

LONDON, May 11 (CP).—In a grim fighting speech on the fall before the thunderous bursts of Summer, Prime Minister Churchill last night warned Hitler that Britain would carry poison gas warfare "far and wide" over Germany if he dares use it against Russia and forecast a mighty British-American bombing offensive against Germany.

Grim in his prediction of misery and slaughter for Germany, the Prime Minister nevertheless was confident and optimistic and brought what he said was a message of good cheer for Britain and her Allies.

WAR TIDE TURNING

Declaring the tide of the war has at last finally turned, the Premier said: "Across the Channel we can see with growing clearness the power [illegible] will break her."

There [illegible] one serious matter which I must mention to you," he said. "The Soviet Government have expressed to us the view that the German use in the operation of their air forces of their surplus gas against the armies and people of Russia.

"We are ourselves [illegible] to use this [illegible] method of war if it is used first by the Germans.

Cost-of-Living War Bonus Is Passed to Municipal Employees

City Council Decides to Pay Married Men and Single Persons With Dependents $10 Per Month Retroactive to January

PAYMENT of a cost-of-living bonus to civic employees was authorized by the City Council yesterday afternoon, on motion of Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan, chairman of the finance committee. Heads of families and single persons with dependents will receive $10 per month retroactive to January 1, and single persons with no dependents will be paid $5 per month.

Married and single ones with dependents on a daily pay basis will receive forty-six cents per day, and twenty-three cents per day will be paid in the case of single persons without dependents. In all cases a ceiling of $2,100 per year will be observed.

Members of the Civic Employees' Federation recently applied to the Provincial Government for appointment of a conciliation commissioner to settle the cost-of-living bonus question. They will meet in the near future to decide whether to withdraw the application and accept the council bonus or to proceed with their original plan.

ALL TO GET BONUS

In explaining his motion Alderman Morgan stated the bonus would apply to the City Hall inside and outside staffs, Victoria Public Library staff, school board employees, firemen and policemen, and the cost would be $58,000. Mayor Andrew McGavin said the police commission would have to rule on application of the bonus to the police department, since commissioners and not aldermen had authority over policemen.

Alderman F. A. Willis wanted to know what the bonus would cost if the ceiling of $2,100 were dropped. Alderman P. E. George moved that payments be increased to $11 and $5.50 per month, but the motion was not accepted by the chair. D. A. Macdonald, city comptroller and treasurer, revealed $63,400 had been set aside for the bonus, but payments of $10 and $5 with no ceiling would cost $69,456.

Alderman E. Williams was of the opinion that a ceiling should be observed. Alderman Willis hoped the finance committee would carefully consider the ceiling question when discussing a bonus for 1943. Alderman J. A. Worthington declared he was not in favor of giving a bonus to any person in receipt of $250 and $300 per month. He suggested a ceiling of $1,800 per year be set. Alderman W. H. Davies regretted that a large number of citizens in receipt of pensions and small incomes were hit so hard by the increased cost of living.

MOTION IS DEFEATED

Alderman A. Wills unsuccessfully moved the council rescind motions appointing Forrest L. Shaw supervisor of the lands department, and calling for a complete list of city-owned property. He suggested both motions be discussed by the lands committee.

Alderman T. W. Hawkins stated the lands and legal departments were closely related, and Mr. Shaw was making excellent progress in cleaning up delinquent property payments. He claimed it would be a grave mistake to rescind both motions, and charged there had been considerable laxity in the past in the lands office.

Alderman Williams claimed it would not be in the interest of the city to rescind the motions, but thought they should have first been considered by the lands committee before presentation to the council. Alderman B. J. Gadsden was of the opinion that the motions expressed lack of confidence in the lands committee.

A suggestion of W. T. Straith, K.C., that a by-law be passed to designate street taxi stands to save perpetual moving of the machines was referred to the transportation committee.

Payment of $3,000 to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau was authorized. Alderman Morgan requested and received a report from aldermen members of the bureau in favor of the grant. He said that very few tourists were arriving on Vancouver Island. Mayor McGavin suggested the $3,000 be instead added to funds for a civic war bonus.

DILAPIDATED HOUSES

A letter from James Porter asking what was being done about a condemnation order for two dilapidated houses at 336 and 340 Vancouver Street was handed to the health committee. A communication from the R C A Victor Company stated a two-way mobile radio system for the police and fire departments would be installed at the end of May.

Island Farms Ltd. was granted permission to stable horses at 735 Cormorant Street, Alderman Worthington cast the only dissenting vote. A grant of $50 was passed to the Victoria City Police Revolver Club for the annual shoot at Thetis Lake on July 1 and 2.

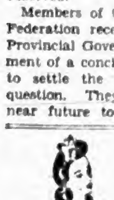

Authority was given the public works committee to proceed with 2,620 feet of crushed rock and gravel sidewalks on Richmond Avenue, Montreal Street, Balfour Avenue and Doric Street at a total cost of $2,946. It was also decided to extend Store Street for a distance of 180 feet with a width of ten feet. On motion of the business and trade committee it was agreed to ask the Federal Government if municipalities would receive financial assistance for postwar projects.

PROPERTY SALES

Lands committee sales ratified included northeast corner of King Road and Blackwood Street, $150, west side of Moss Street, between Faithful Street and Dallas Road, $350, south side of Richardson Street between Moss and Minto Streets, $650, west side of Douglas Street, between Simcoe and Beacon Streets, $2,500, and an old house at 616 Garbally Road, $550. It was decided to remove a veranda and erect a $50 woodshed for a city-owned house at 942 Pandora Avenue.

Tenders for electric light globes were opened and handed to the street lighting committee. On motion of Alderman Williams it was agreed to hold council meetings twice each month after May 18. A by-law to close Wilcox Lane, now private property, was introduced.

On motion of Alderman McTavish, citizens were urged to grow more vegetables. A motion of Alderman Wills heartily thanked civic employees for the successful A.R.P. tag day last Saturday. Another motion of Alderman Davies congratulated the Dominoes Basketball Club on winning the Canadian senior A championship.

B.C. OBSERVING ANNIVERSARIES

His Majesty's Birthday Declared Public Holiday June 8

In common with the rest of the British Commonwealth, British Columbia has proclaimed June 8 as a public holiday to observe the official celebration of the birthday anniversary of His Majesty, King George VI. The day, falling on a Monday, will be a special holiday in the schools, following traditional custom.

May 24, falling on a Sunday this year, will be observed in British Columbia on Monday, May 25, it was set out yesterday by Provincial proclamation. It also will be observed in its schools, and has been proclaimed a public holiday under the Weekly Half-Holiday Act.

His Majesty's official birthday anniversary, and Victoria Day which precedes it, will be followed by Dominion Day, July 1, Canada's national holiday celebrating Confederation. It will fall on a Wednesday, and will be the last holiday of the present school term.

Knowing our Hun, however, we have not neglected to make preparations on a formidable scale."

Speaking on the second anniversary of the tremendous offensive of tanks and dive bombers which Hitler loosed through France and the Low Countries in 1940, Mr. Churchill made only a passing reference to Britain's relations with Vichy upon which he had been expected to deal heavily.

ON MADAGASCAR

Disclosing that the decision to occupy the French island of Madagascar in the Indian Ocean had been made three months ago and that the expedition was two months on the way, he said that in the interval he had felt a "shiver" every time he thought of what might happen through the "dishonorable and feeble drifting or connivance" of the Vichy regime.

Madagascar would be held in trust for the French, he said.

Coyly, Mr. Churchill referred to demands for a continental invasion and said: "Naturally I shall not disclose what our intentions are, but there is one thing I will say. I welcome the militant and aggressive spirit of the British nation so strongly shared across the Atlantic Ocean."

And for those most strongly demanding that Britain take the offensive he offered the declaration: "We must not fail them either in daring or in wisdom."

But certainly, he said, "A British and presently an American bombing offensive against Germany will be one of the principal features in this year's world war."

TIME TO STRIKE

"Now is the time," he declared, "to strike hard at the foundation of the whole enormous German invasion of Russia now while the German armies will be bleeding and burning up their strength against the 2,000-mile Russian line, and when the rows of casualties by the hundreds of thousands is streaming back to the German Reich.

"Now is the time to bring home to the German people the wickedness of their rulers by destroying under their very eyes the factories and seaports on which their war effort depends."

Turning to the Pacific, he said he had "no doubt tonight that British and American seapower will grip and hold the Japanese and overwhelming air power will lay them low."

In a reference to the Battle of the Coral Sea he said that Japanese "can ill afford losses such as those they have sustained," and added: "So far we have no detailed accounts, but it is obvious from the [illegible] which the Japanese felt compelled to tell of sinkings of battleships of the Warspite class that a [illegible] vigorous and successful battle had been fought by the United States and Australian forces."

MAKE RECORD BAG OF AXIS PLANES

In Sunday's fighting five flaming carcasses of Axis dive bombers littered one airdrome.

Lord Gort, who was sworn in Sunday as governor and commander in chief of Malta while bombs were bursting all round, today congratulated the R.A.F. and ground artillery for their week-end successes.

Today's raids, which cost the Axis three planes destroyed and four damaged, were sharp and hurried.

DECORATED BY KING

LONDON, May 11 (CP).—Lieut.-Gen. Sir William Dobbie, who has just relinquished the most-bombed command post in the world at Malta, was decorated by the King today with one of Britain's highest orders. He was made a Knight Grand Cross of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

LONDON, May 11 (CP).—Lieut.-Gen. Sir William Dobbie, who has [illegible] from his command post at Malta after some months of aerial siege, told a press conference today that the Germans tried to knock out that island fortress in April, but there are less and less signs of it being [illegible] out now than ever before.

"You can take it from me," he said, "the Germans would receive the shock of their lives" if they attempted to invade the island.

The garrison is "on its toes," he added, and whatever happens the people of Malta can be relied on.

Most of the few black sheep have been transferred to other places, he said.

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY

NANAIMO, May 11 (CP).—Funeral services will be held here Wednesday for Mrs. Annie Watson, eighty-two, resident of Nanaimo for the past fifty-one years, who died late yesterday. She was born in Airdrie, Scotland. She leaves four sons, John and Robert, Vancouver; William, Victoria, and Thomas, Lacombe, Alta.; a daughter, Mrs. Wilson, in Nanaimo, and another daughter, Mrs. R. Fee, Vancouver.

German Guns In Action on French Coast

A TOWN ON THE ENGLISH SOUTHEAST COAST, May 11 (CP).—German heavy guns on the French coast were in action early tonight for the first time in weeks.

The batteries firing tonight were believed to have been installed recently for use against any invasion attempt by Britain.

The weather was clear and the gun flashes were easily seen from this side in the early dusk.

One battery was in action between Cap Gris Nez and Boulogne. Another was nearer Calais. The cannonade continued about two hours.

B.C. CABINET IS DISPERSED

Senior Members of Administration Out of Town—Routine Orders Passed

With senior members of the Government out of the city on various missions, provincial affairs continued in a lull yesterday. Routine orders in council were announced affecting public holidays, municipal by-laws and other matters. As elsewhere announced, May 25, June 8 and July 1 will all be public holidays in British Columbia with schools to close on those days.

New Westminster's request for leave to repeal a waterworks by-law passed in 1899, was granted by the Province, and a new by-law approved without announced change in the rates charged for the supply of water by that municipality. The new by-law takes care of an agreement to supply water to Burnaby outside the city's limits.

At McLease in the Cariboo land district an acre of ground was reserved to serve as a future school site.

B. W. Martin Bow was named as a member of the town planning board of West Vancouver, being resident there.

TRANSFER LICENCES

The Provincial Fuel Control Board transferred six retail gasoline sales licences to new holders, covering outlets already in operation.

Premier Hart spent a two-day rest up the Island at the week-end going fishing with friends. Hon. R. L. Maitland and Hon. Herbert Anscomb were both at Ottawa, the former to appear before the Supreme Court of Canada and the latter in connection with mining matters. Other members of the Cabinet here and on the Mainland were busy with departmental affairs, without [illegible] announcement following.

A.R.P. Activities

Mount Tolmie 5A South.—Preceding the regular practice meeting on Wednesday at Mount Douglas High School a special meeting will be held and announcements relative to the district practice on May 18 will be made. All personnel are requested to be on hand at 7:45 o'clock sharp.

Premier King Reads Statement on Effect Of Manpower Ballot

Declares People of Canada Willing to Release Government From Pledge Not to Invoke Conscription for Service Outside Canada

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP).—Following is the text of a statement on the April 27 manpower plebiscite read in the House of Commons today by Prime Minister Mackenzie King: The results of the plebiscite on April 27 now are all but completed. Although final official returns are not yet available, the most reliable figures indicate that on the question asked there were over 2,926,856 persons who voted in the affirmative, and over 1,618,730 persons who voted in the negative, in other words 64 per cent of the voters answered in the affirmative and 36 per cent in the negative.

The total number of votes cast on the plebiscite is an impressive demonstration of the importance which the electors of Canada attach to giving to the Government a free hand at a time of war.

The question on which the people of Canada were asked to express an opinion was:

"Are you in favor of releasing the Government from any obligation arising out of any past commitments restricting the method of raising men for military service?"

ISSUE DISPOSED OF

By their vote the people have decisively expressed the view that the Government should be released from any such obligation. In other words, there no longer remains any issue which the Government or members of Parliament, because of past promises or pledges, are restricted from considering, discussing and deciding on its merits, in the light of what is best for Canada and for Canada's war effort.

The question in the plebiscite was of equal concern to all citizens of Canada. The result is a national expression of view on a national issue. It should be so viewed in all its aspects.

In all of the provinces, and for that matter in every constituency, affirmative and negative votes were cast. The vote was taken in a democratic fashion. It will be recognized throughout the country that in a democracy, the will of the majority should prevail.

RESTRICTION REMOVED

The vote in the plebiscite shows that the people generally recognize that the war has taken a course which was altogether unforeseen, that conditions wholly unexpected may yet arise, and that in consequence there should be no restriction upon the freedom of the Government apart from its constitutional responsibility to Parliament.

In the plebiscite the electors were not called upon to vote for or against the Government. The result therefore is not to be construed as a vote for any political party. In fact, the plebiscite was selected by the Government precisely because it afforded the best known means of obtaining an expression of the views of the people on a specific question regardless of political parties or party considerations.

WAS NOT MANDATE

As in some quarters an effort has been made since the plebiscite to interpret the result as a mandate for conscription for overseas service, it is necessary for me to repeat that in the plebiscite conscription was not the issue.

The Government did not ask the people to say whether or not conscription for overseas service should be adopted. That was not the issue before the people.

With respect to the issue of conscription the result can only rightly be construed as leaving to the Government and to Parliament entire freedom to deal with that question on its merits.

GERMANY STARTS SPRING OFFENSIVE

in thwarting the Germans' drive toward Moscow last November.

In mid-April the Caucasus terrain already was hard and dry—ready again to provide a footing for the Nazis' mechanized might and the challenging iron monsters marshalled by the Soviets.

RUSSIAN FRONT FIRM

But the Germans have two deterrents on the Crimean front: the fact that the Russians are so firmly entrenched in the town of Kerch and the fact that the Russian defenders of Sevastopol have put up a heroic battle to hold that important port at the southwestern end of the peninsula.

The Crimea front also was the scene of a reported German introduction of poison gas. That happened for the first time in the war last Thursday, the agency Tass said.

As far as chemical warfare is concerned, the Russians themselves are believed amply prepared for the counter-use of poison gas.

Long before Germany crashed into Poland, Russian military leaders warned they would use "buckets of gas" on an enemy who dared to use that weapon against them.

To the Russians it has been obvious that one of Hitler's main 1942 objectives would be the Caucasus. Many believe Germany's most pressing need is oil if she is to continue the war.

WHERE NAZIS DIED

The Russian grip on Sevastopol remains a steady threat to any German push in the Kerch area. The Soviet estimated that approximately 50,000 Nazis have died on the approaches to that besieged city.

Preliminary reports did not give the exact strength of this sizable Nazi push toward Kerch. Nor is it known just how much of the Kerch area is held by the Russians, who have had months to fortify their hold.

After Hitler's Winter campaign fizzled the Russians took the offensive and pushed the Germans back some thirty miles from Kerch and recaptured the Crimean port of Feodosiya, but later were forced to abandon the latter.

In other sectors tonight, communique said there were no material changes during the day. It listed thirty-eight German planes destroyed yesterday to twelve Soviet losses.

With this bag the Russians said German losses since May 5 totalled 209 planes to ninety-eight Russian.

At the Northern end of the front, the communique reported a [illegible] [illegible] in which the Germans were [illegible] [illegible] [illegible].

Nehru Is Struck by Different Reaction To Party's Decision

Pandit Justifies Non-Violent Non-Co-operation Policy in Event of Japanese Invasion of India as Being "Only Alternative"

NEW DELHI, India, May 11 (AP). — Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru said today he was struck by the different ways in which the United States and Japan have reacted to the decision of the Congress party to oppose a Japanese invasion of India with non-violent, non-co-operation.

America, he said during the course of an exclusive interview, is criticizing the party's decision as a sign of weakness, while the Japanese are angry "at our spirit of resistance."

The Japanese, he continued, had hoped to pass through India without interference of any kind from the Indians.

Nehru, who received me at the home of a relative where he had stopped en route to the mountains for a few days' rest, defended the decision as "the only alternative under the circumstances."

HOPE ELIMINATED

The other alternative—some sort of armed resistance under the state—disappeared, Nehru said, when Indian hope for immediate statehood was eliminated with the failure of the mission of Sir Stafford Cripps.

The Pandit (the word stands for "wise man") said he would have liked to organize guerrilla bands and a home guard or a people's army of some kind.

Under present regulations Indians can join General Sir Archibald Wavell's Indian army, but are unable to have an army of their own, Nehru said.

The Congress, while refusing to participate in British-promoted air raid precaution measures, is organising its own instead. This is one branch of the extensive self-protection, self-sufficient programme — as it is called—under which the Congress is organized for war.

Nehru said the people of India are so tremendously Nationalist that they have had little interest in international affairs, but ten years of effort by their leaders have succeeded in making them pro-Chinese, Nehru said, and consequently they were anti-Japanese when the Japanese invaded China.

of R. W. Hibberson, collected $12,772 toward their divisional quota of $56,000. Waldo Skillings' business division, whose objective is $6,500, collected $861.45; Miss Sara Spencer's residential group, staffed entirely by women, secured $781.25 of an objective of $16,000.

The industrial division, which, under G. H. Walton, has been asked to raise $7,000, collected $2,594.45, and P. B. Fowler's services group obtained $297 toward its quota of $4,500. John Holroyd's hotels division, and Major G. S. Yardley's group, covering outside districts, have as yet reported no returns.

That the work of the Canadian Red Cross Society is more than appreciated by Canadians held prisoners overseas is indicated in a letter received recently from a British Columbia boy who is now in a prison camp in Germany.

He pointed out that the daily rations served prisoners include one bowl of soup, three slices of bread, one ounce of margarine, and a little jam, cheese or sausage. These rations constitute the mid-day meal, and for breakfast and supper the prisoners depend entirely upon the supplies sent them by the Canadian Red Cross Society.

Those who have contributed amounts of $10 or more to enable the Red Cross to carry on its merciful work include:

KING FACES CRISIS AS CARDIN QUITS

and after the meeting a committee from those who attended prepared a statement saying "a large majority" of Quebec members endorsed the stand taken by Mr. Cardin in resigning.

Aside from this statement, The Canadian Press learned from more than one informed source that practically every French-speaking member from Quebec, and perhaps some English-speaking members from that province will support Mr. Cardin in opposing the amendment of the National Resources Mobilization Act to remove the ban on sending conscripted men outside of Canada.

Hovering on the fence and believed likely to join the bloc are several members representing French-speaking constituencies in Ontario and New Brunswick.

PROBLEMS TO FACE

Political observers said the situation brings Mr. King up against two problems—the retention of as much support as he can from the Liberal membership of the House, and the finding of two or more French-speaking members to represent the Province of Quebec in the Cabinet.

Mr. Cardin's expressed reason for resignation was his claim that the Government adopted a new policy with which he could not agree.

The concern of other members representing Quebec and other French-speaking constituencies, however, seemed to be Quebec's "No" vote on the plebiscite. They felt bound to respect the views of their constituents and oppose amendment of the law.

Observers thought that consideration was likely to deter some, if not all the French-speaking members who might be asked to enter the Cabinet, from accepting.

CABINET VACANCIES

There now are three vacancies in Quebec's normal representation in the Cabinet, as no successors were ever appointed to Hon. Pierre Casgrain, who resigned some time ago to accept a judicial appointment, and to Rt. Hon. Raoul Dandurand, minister without portfolio, who died in March.

Some circles saw the possibility of one or more members representing seats in the Montreal area which voted "yes" on the plebiscite, being willing to accept Cabinet posts. Mentioned among these are Thomas Vien, deputy speaker of the House, who represents Montreal-Outremont, and Ernest Bertrand, who represents Montreal-Laurier.

Alphonse Fournier, of Hull, would be considered another Quebec prospect, except that his constituency voted "no."

The possibility of Mr. King choosing a couple of ministers from outside the House has been mentioned, but is not considered a probable course because of possible difficulty in getting them elected.

FEAR NEW MOVEMENT

Some Quebec members, observers here believe, are not greatly opposed to the Government's policy, and, but for the views of their constituents, willing to serve. They are believed, however, to fear a new political movement in Quebec which might destroy the solidarity of the Liberal Party in the province.

In the national interest, these members may be inclined to feel it better to keep together as a party than to lose their influence entirely to others who are completely opposed to the Government.

Two things are considered likely to influence political events of the next few days — Mr. King's talk to his followers in the privacy of the Liberal caucus tomorrow and Mr. Cardin's speeches to the caucus and in the House of Commons.

CARDIN'S FUTURE

Informed political quarters did not expect that Mr. Cardin will lead either an anti-King or an anti-Government movement. If he confines himself to stating his opposition to the bill and voting against it, the tension will ease somewhat.

If Mr. King can rally his followers from the French-speaking province by an appeal to sentiments of personal loyalty, it is believed the crisis may pass.

In the meantime the impression prevails that the two remaining Quebec ministers—Justice Minister St. Laurent and Air Minister Power—both of whose constituencies voted "no" on the plebiscite, will stick with the Prime Minister. So, it is believed, will Fisheries Minister Michaud, whose French-speaking New Brunswick constituency returned a "no" majority.

SURVIVORS LAND AT RECIFE IN BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 11 (AP) — Eight members of the crew of the 5,102-ton United States freighter Lammot Du Pont, torpedoed near Bermuda April 23, have been landed in Recife, the Brazilian Government made known today. The fate of forty-two crew members was not known.

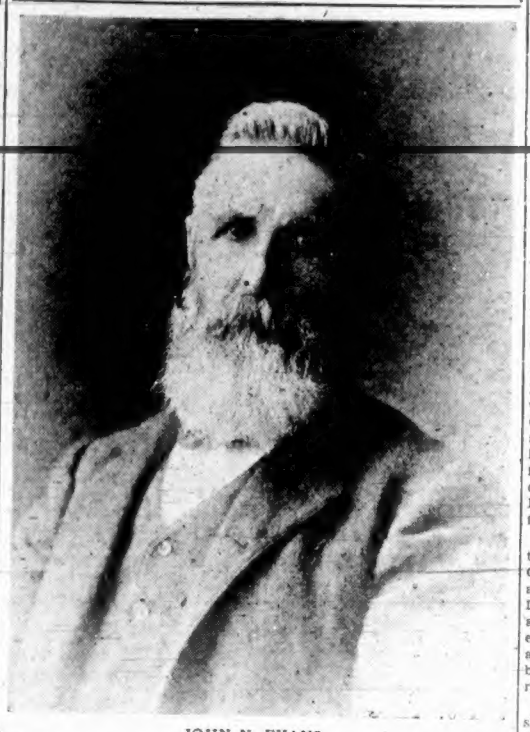

After two days in lifeboats they were rescued by the Swedish motorship Astri, which transferred them three days ago to a Brazil-bound ship.

MISSING ON ACTIVE SERVICE OVERSEAS

PRINCE RUPERT, May 11 (CP).—Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Morin, of Prince Rupert, have been advised by cable that their only son, Sgt. William Ralph Morin, nineteen, is missing on active service overseas with the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Sgt. Morin was born and educated here and before enlisting a year ago was employed by the Northern British Columbia Power Company. He received his wings at Yorkton, Sask.

In Ninety-Seventh Year

JOHN N. EVANS

WHO is widely-known throughout Vancouver Island as Cowichan's "grand old man," on Saturday celebrated his ninety-sixth birthday anniversary at his farm on Cowichan Lake Road. Born in Lower Penthryn, Wales, on May 9, 1846, he left his home at the age of eighteen for Canada. He arrived in Victoria in 1864 by way of the Isthmus of Panama, after brief stopovers in San Francisco and Portland. After two years here he returned to California where he spent four years in the goldfields, and in 1870 came back to British Columbia, settling in the Cowichan district. Mr. Evans is keenly interested in the early history of Vancouver Island, and has devoted much time and attention to compiling biographical data on its pioneer residents. He married in California during a visit in 1873, his wife dying in 1937. For three-quarters of a century Mr. Evans has been an active member of the Knights of Pythias. He has a long record of municipal service, and was Liberal representative for the Cowichan district during the McBride administration.

She was the widow of Alfred Ware, of Clevedon Somerset, England. She had been a resident of Victoria for the past thirty-five years, leading a very retired life. She is survived by two sons, Ernest, at her late residence, 320 Linden Avenue, and Sidney, of Vernon Military Camp; also one grandson and other relatives in England. A strictly private funeral will be held Wednesday from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel. Rev. Canon Ryall officiating, and interment will be in St. John's Churchyard, at Colwood. It is specially requested that no flowers be sent.

Says All Japanese Should Be Returned To Japan After War

Canadian Who Escaped From Hongkong Arrives in Victoria — Praises Resistance of Dominion Troops in Action

ARTHUR Duff, Canadian-born businessman who escaped from Hongkong after it fell to the Japanese only by disguising himself and using a small Chinese fishing boat to reach the mainland, said in an interview at the Empress Hotel yesterday that the Japanese constitute a very much more serious threat to the supremacy of the white race at present than is generally believed.

Shortly after Hongkong was taken by the Japanese, December 25 last, Mr. Duff reached the mainland with two Chinese companions. Later Chinese pirates, who were buying arms stolen from the battlefield, kidnapped and held him prisoner for a week. Everything he had escaped with, including a Japanese Red Cross worker's disguise, was taken from him.

A rival group of bandits, fortunately subsidized by the Chinese Government for guerrilla activities against the Japanese, rescued Mr. Duff, took him from the pirate junk aboard which he had been held, escorted him farther up the coast and passed from from one guerrilla band to another until he safely reached Chungking.

Mr. Duff, who is in Victoria for a short visit to his sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles Duff, expressed the opinion that all Japanese on this continent should be interned and shipped out, "bag and baggage," at the end of the war.

REVERT TO TYPE

Their mentality and characteristics, he said, have not changed in 200 years, and the moment Japanese forces set foot upon North America they would revert to type.

"In the meantime," he said, "the Japanese are a source of information to their country's intelligence service. There is a tremendous difference between the Chinese and the Japanese; the Chinese have a sense of friendship and loyalty to their friends and to the country in which they live.

"The Japanese," Mr. Duff warned, "are not to be under-estimated. They have tried to keep us lulled into a sense of false security. They kept the China 'incident' alive, and themselves put out reports of their economic insecurity. There is a very real danger of under-estimating them."

Further, he said the Japanese are experts in veiling their real strength from the world, and while the bombing of Tokio was "useful," stronger blows than that will be needed to win the war in the Eastern theatre.

The Allied nations must be prepared for even greater surprises than the fall of Singapore and the attack upon Pearl Harbor, for the morale of the Japanese is high and their troops experienced and highly-trained.

GALLANT CANADIANS

Though Mr. Duff saw the Canadian forces land at Hongkong, he did not meet any of the men individually, and was unable to furnish any more details of their fate than have already reached the Canadian Government. Brave as was their fight against tremendous odds, the fall of Hongkong was imminent even as they landed, and the colony's fate was a "foregone conclusion," despite the gallant resistance which its defenders offered against an enemy superior in numbers.

Even though Hongkong was shelled continuously by the Japanese it did not suffer greatly, but the enemy had developed his fifth column tactics to a high degree, and after the island fell the funds in banks and business offices were almost too quickly "sealed" by Japanese troops, Mr. Duff said.

A factor which complicated the gravity of the situation faced by the colony was that 1,500,000 Chinese refugees crowded into it, and that British authorities could not halt the influx because of an existing arrangement with the Chinese Government.

Two hundred refugees jammed into houses whose normal capacity was six persons, and one night in Hongkong 10,000 were counted sleeping in the streets.

Mr. Duff, aided by guerrillas, reached Chungking on March 7, went west through China to India, and thence to Basra by plane. He flew by bomber across Africa from Cairo and the South Atlantic to Trinidad, and reached America March 28, having covered 17,000 miles.

FIGHT TO THE END

The Chinese, he said, are prepared to fight to the end alongside their allies. To beat the Japanese, it will be necessary to drive them back over the ground they have captured, immobilize them in their islands, and then starve and fight them into submission.

Before flying to Victoria, Mr. Duff visited relatives in Toronto, and reported to Canadian and American governmental authorities upon conditions in the Far East. Ottawa, London and Washington, he said, are aware of the menace which the Japanese present.

Since 1931, Mr. Duff has been a member of the staff of Starr, Park & Freeman, of New York, a concern dealing with automobiles and providing an insurance service in the Far East. Previously, he represented General Motors Corporation in China.

After the Japanese captured Shanghai and Nanking, the firm transferred its offices to Hongkong to maintain connection with Free China through Canton. When Canton fell, the firm operated through Indo-China, and after the Japanese occupied that territory the offices were moved to Rangoon, each time carrying out the policy of following the various supply routes to China.

Mr. Duff left Hamilton, Ontario, in 1917. He plans to fly shortly to San Francisco, where a shipment of vehicles destined for the Far East is waiting for removal. Two of his five children, who have been staying with friends here, are with him; three other youngsters are with his parents in their temporary home in North Carolina.

A MESSAGE OF GOOD CHEER

Mr. Winston Churchill has made a number of great speeches during the course of the war; that of Sunday deserves to rank among his best. It was not only a masterly review of the situation as it stands; it possessed a note of confidence which, because of the conditions of the past, it had not been desirable for him to express in the same way before. Most certainly in any of his former utterances it would not have been possible for him to say as he did on Sunday—"Victory is certain and not too far away." He added, as it were a corollary to this, "You deserve it and the facts endorse it." Mr. Churchill never minces his words. They are outright, downright and forthright, and never more so than in his latest broadcast. From start to finish it compelled attention and there can have been but few who listened to it who did not feel an uplifting of hearts, a new courage and a confirmed determination to make the Prime Minister's confidence come true.

Now Mr. Churchill, because "the facts endorse it," is able to speak with growing confidence about the future. His review of the war in all its most important theatres, on the home front as well as wherever major fighting is taking place, was a masterly exposition. For the first time he was able to say with definiteness that Great Britain has air superiority over the Germans and that the Americans will presently join in the great offensive now being conducted against naval and military objectives, against ports, and against industrial establishments engaged in furnishing the German war machine. He told of the glory of the Russian counter-offensive which he considered one of the four major events of the struggle, and he paid the armies of M. Stalin, as well as that leader himself, high tribute. He was able to tell his world-wide audience that combined British and American naval strength and superior air power would bring Japan to her knees. He told of the decision to occupy Madagascar and had words of praise for heroic Malta. These and other matters he dealt with in phraseology in the use of which he has no peer in the political world.

Perhaps the point made by Mr. Churchill in his broadcast that will arrest the public imagination more than any other was his reference to the use of poison gas in warfare. It was a painful subject that must have rent his very soul, but he never faltered in what he felt he had to say. The Russian Government, he pointed out, had expressed the view that the Germans would use poison gas in their forthcoming offensive. Mr. Churchill then proclaimed his solemn warning to Herr Hitler and the Nazis. The British, he said, will treat such use of poison gas as if it had been used against themselves. They have made formidable preparations for just such an eventuality. So, if the Russians are made the victims of this barbarous form of warfare, the Royal Air Force will retaliate on military and industrial establishments in Germany, and Great Britain, as Mr. Churchill said, has a long list of these that are to be attacked in rotation in the process of destroying the enemy's war machine. Mr. Churchill made it plain that Great Britain looks with abhorrence on this form of warfare, but he has now made it plain, in a way Berlin cannot mistake, that, to quote Shakespeare; "The villainy you teach me, I will execute, and it shall go hard but I will better the instruction."

It was given to Mr. Churchill as to no other man during the darkest days in Great Britain's history to speak the words of unfaltering courage, of superb tenacity, of determination to do or die, when, for a year, she stood alone against the embattled Axis Powers. There is no one who will deny him the pride which he feels, and which he expressed, in having been her spokesman in that time when catastrophe seemed to be spreading its wings and when even the best friends of that home of an ancient and stately civilization believed that she was doomed. When he then told the world of the fibre of which his people are made he did so in accents that are destined to become a part of the history of this war and to be repeated by unborn generations as a traditional tocsin whenever peril may threaten in the future. For such an interpretation of the spirit of his land, for the inspiration which he gave because of it, and, too, since the fighting spirit of the great statesman sent echoes of hope to every democracy—those still free and those under the Nazi yoke—Mr. Churchill made himself the personal embodiment of what freedom means and how it must be defended lest it perish from the earth. He has, like other statesmen of the past, created as it were a new tradition that will be enshrined on the escutcheon of all free peoples in ages yet to come.

DEFENDING AIR BASES

One lesson of the war learned by Great Britain is that much stronger defences must be established for airfields and air bases than any hitherto contemplated. The comparatively easy manner in which such establishments have fallen into the hands of the enemy, particularly in the Far East, has shown that new methods must be devised. This is the reason for the establishment of a Royal Air Force Regiment in Great Britain, a departure which could well be followed in this country. It is explained that this regiment, which, of course, will have a personnel far beyond that of the ordinary regiment, will be assisted in the defence of air establishments by all R.A.F. men employed on such stations, who are to be known as "backers-up." The aeronautical correspondent of The Times, London, explains in part what is intended. He says:

"All executive action will be implemented through the R.A.F. chain of command in accordance with a policy laid down by the Commander-in-Chief, Home Forces. The control and supervision of the R.A.F. Regiment will be vested in the commnadant of the regiment. He will exercise his powers through senior officers of the regiment appointed to the staff of commands and groups, and the commandant will be responsible to the Air Council for the regiment's efficiency. He will also be responsible for advising the Air Council on the policy to be followed in training. The Commander-in-Chief, Home Forces, will inform the Air Ministry of the tactical methods of defence to be adopted, and will have the right to satisfy himself, through his subordinates, that appropriate measures to implement his policy for the defence of aerodromes are being taken. Six training schools have been established. Members of the regiment will be drawn from suitable officers at present employed on full-time ground defence duties; from direct entrants who will be commissoined in the R.A.F.V.R.; army officers who may elect to relinquish their army commissions; airmen who are commissioned on passing out of the officer cadet training unit; army officers loaned to the R.A.F.; airmen already mustered as ground gunners; aircrafthands; airmen redundant to their trades; airmen who volunteer for service with the regiment, and recruits from civil life."

AN ERROR IN THE FOURTH DIMENSION

Herr Hitler is at his infamous best in the kind of international intercourse that proceeds by sharp practice, impudent demands, gradual encroachment upon neighbors anxious to keep the peace, a never-ending diplomatic war of nerves offering an alternative of bribes involving the territory of a third party, or submission to direct threats and menaces. He can boast of bloodless victories achieved by his policy of encroachment which proceeds a step at a time but so cleverly calculated that the victim, betrayed into one concession after another to avoid open war, finds himself at last defeated, weakened and despoiled quite as effectively as if he had lost a military campaign. The successes achieved by Herr Hitler in his diplomatic dealings with other countries are due to a consistent policy of threat, terror, and falsehood. It does not seem to have occurred to him that a weak neighbor, or even a beaten foe, is entitled to fair treatment or would be likely to respond favorably to fair treatment.

Herr Hitler's treatment of France since the collapse of that country is a case in point. He has shown but little insight into human nature in his effort to win France over to the Axis. He is in a position of great power and advantage, but is temperamentally unable to pursue a policy of mildness and good will. He does not know enough even to liberate his scores of thousands of French prisoners. He continues to employ restrictions, vexatious regulations, forced labor in factories, systematic oppression, the ever-present menace of secret police, the prison, the firing squad, the murder of innocent hostages, to convince the French people of the blessings of the New Order. Apparently he does not see that such a policy does not bring him a single step nearer to getting possession of what remains of the French Fleet or a single province of the French colonial empire. He is only piling up wrath against the day of wrath by his outrages upon the rights of a beaten foe.

There are capacities and motive forces in the human spirit the existence of which is apparently unknown to Herr Hitler. To him they constitute a mental terra incognito, a veritable fourth dimension.

MR. CARDIN'S RESIGNATION

The resignation of Mr. P. J. Cardin, Minister of Transport and Public Works, will probably be the onlp one that the Mackenzie King Government will suffer because of the result of the plebiscite. Mr. Cardin has resigned in deference to the expressed opinion of his constituents in opposition to the conscription of man-power for overseas service. In has always been assumed that many representatives from Quebec in the House of Commons, and in the Senate as well, will vote against the amendments to the Natural Resources Mobilization Act which removes the restriction placed on conscription. The Prime Minister has been aware of this ever since he launched his plebiscite. It would not do, however, for a Minister of the Government to declare himself in opposition to a policy of the Cabinet as a whole. Hence Mr. Cardin's resignation. As a private member he can now oppose the amending legislation, as he no doubt will, and as will several other members from Quebec.

The Liberal Party now in office can hardly be regarded as embarrassed by Mr. Cardin's withdrawal from the Government. He is simply following the dictates of his conscience, and he does not consider that he was released from these by the vote of the people. The result of the plebiscite, as was always anticipated, has created a rift in the ranks of Liberalism. The extent of this can only be ascertained when the vote is taken in Parliament on the legislation to amend the Natural Resources Mobilization Act. That rift, however, great or small, offers yet another argument for the formation of a National Government in such a time of national emergency.

THE BUGLE

The splendor falls on castle walls
And snowy summits old in story;
The long light shakes across the lakes,
And the wild cataract leaps in glory.
Blow, bugle, blow; set the wild echoes flying;
Blow, bugle; answer, echoes; dying, dying, dying.

O hark! O hear! how thin and clear,
And thinner, clearer, farther going!
O sweet and far, from cliff and scar,
The horns of Elfland faintly blowing!
Blow, let us hear the purple glens replying:
Blow, bugle; answer, echoes; dying, dying, dying.

O love, they die in yon rich sky,
They faint on hill or field or river;
Our echoes roll from soul to soul,
And grow forever and forever.
Blow, bugle, blow; set the wild echoes flying,
And answer, echoes, answer, dying, dying, dying.

—Alfred Tennyson.

SHE WALKS IN BEAUTY

She walks in beauty, like the night
Of cloudless climes and starry skies,
And all that's best of dark and bright
Meets in her aspect and her eyes,
Thus mellow'd to that tender light
Which heaven to gaudy day denies.

One shade the more, one ray the less
Had half impair'd the nameless grace
Which waves in every raven tress
Or softly lightens o'er her face.
Where thoughts serenely sweet express
How pure, how dear their dwelling-place.

And on that cheek and o'er that brow
So soft, so calm, yet eloquent,
The smiles that win, the tints that glow
But tell of days in goodness spent—
A mind at peace with all below,
A heart whose love is innocent.

—Lord Byron (1788-1824).

Reckon the days in which you have not been angry. I used to be angry every day; now every other day; then every third and fourth day; and if you miss it so long as thirty days, offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving to God.—Epictetus.

THE WEEK

Western Front (942-948 days).—Keeping up unremitting pressure on Germany's western front, the Royal Air Force straddled the Reich from northeast to southwest last week with hard night raids on Hamburg, Pilsen, Stuttgart and Warnemuende; and subsidiary forays against Nantes, [illegible] St. Nazaire, Le Havre, and other points in German-occupied lands. By day, the coastal apron in enemy hands was peppered in massed fighter-bomber attacks, which left dromes, rails, camps and barracks burning. Some thirty-five British planes were lost during these attacks, nineteen of them in a tightly defended ring around Warnemuende, far to the east on the Baltic Sea, at the mouth of the river Warne. Aircraft plants, magneto and electrical appliance factories, submarine training bases, port facilities and many other carefully chosen targets were bombed from low altitudes. The Luftwaffe retaliated in scattered raids on Exeter, Eastbourne, Cowes and Bristol, in forces ranging from thirty planes to four planes; and losing twenty-five of their number. Counter-drome work by the R.A.F. was effective, one-third of the German machines destroyed being shot down on their own airdromes in take-offs or upon their return from Great Britain. Hamburg and Exeter exchanges overlapped the week before. British aircraft mauled two Axis convoys off the Norwegian coast, and set two supply ships on fire at other points. The Admiralty announced the loss of the British cruiser Edinburgh, which was holed by two torpedoes in a three-day action in Arctic convoy patrol. The damaged cruiser was taken in tow, but had to be cut adrift in a storm. H.M.S. Edinburgh was sunk by gunfire by British vessels, after her crew had been taken off safely. Three loaded supply ships were lost in convoy to Russia, and one returning in ballast to the United Kingdom. One German destroyer was sunk, another damaged, and several smaller enemy craft and planes were destroyed in the running action, through seas of gale force. The convoys went through to Murmansk. Elsewhere, the Admiralty announced the loss of the destroyer Jaguar at sea, in unstated action. Four Allied merchant ships were lost in the Atlantic by submarine action.

Prime Minister Churchill, speaking on Sunday, delivered his first "good cheer" speech of the conflict. What he said is reported in this issue. The speech contained, however, some points of strategic importance. Mr. Churchill confirmed the British successful landing on Madagascar and the reinforcement of Ceylon; noted the withdrawal of German aircraft from the siege of Malta, and the absence of visible German concentrations on Russia's border in the east. He noted Russian reports poison gas had been used by Germany on the Eastern Front, and pledged Britain to retaliate in kind if Germany descended to that weapon, as she did at Ypres on April 22, 1915. The R.A.F. drive on Germany was mounting, and British planes would be joined shortly by those from the United States in an ever-increasing bombardment. Mr. Churchill declared. He taunted Hitler with a "late start" in 1942, and implied that if the hurricane followed the present lull it would be Germany's last. It was a fighting speech marking tremendous recovery by the democracies in the last twenty-four months, since the fall of France. To France herself, Mr. Churchill gave the guarantee that her soil would be held in trust. The crews of two medium and two small Allied merchantmen torpedoed at sea were landed during the week on the Atlantic coast, at Hamilton in Bermuda, and at Caribbean ports. The Norwegian ferry steamer Geltesund, plying between Oslo and Bergen, escaped to England during a fog. Mass execution of "hostages" were reported in Norway and in France. The United States and Canada recalled consular officials from Vichy; while North and South American consular staffs were reported passing through Barcelona on their way home, via Lisbon. A Japanese envoy was said to have called at the Vatican, in Rome. Dover guns fired for an hour and a half at mid-week.

Eastern Front (317-323 days).—Comparative lull continued on the eastern front, pointed by local actions of some intensity. Floods were reported in the southwest. Russian reports claimed a decisive victory in a six-weeks' air battle for Murmansk positions; stating German planes had been withdrawn, after persistent heavy losses. A German thrust on the Karelian front was stopped, and local fighting continued all week in the Leningrad and Kalinin zones. There was sparring at Kursk, Kharkov and Taganrog; and Russian reports said a Hungarian division had been shattered in the Bryansk zone. North and south of Belgorod, 350 miles south of Moscow, Russian troops drove to Nechegol and Marovka, wedging German positions there. There was mention of cavalry action, and the capture of villages and strong-points northwest of Moscow where German lines were cut at one point. The reported action, however, was without pronounced change at any part of the front. Russian reinforcements, including Spring reserves, were being drawn up along the whole front. German concentrations for a Spring thrust, as Mr. Churchill pointed out, were either well concealed or the [illegible] had not yet begun. On May 10, after a cold Winter, the eastern front was heavy with floods in the main rivers; and at points on the Don the water had overflowed to a width of thirty miles. Premier Stalin, in a May Day address, referred to 1942 as the "year of victory." Russia, the premier said, was ready for anything that Germany could throw. One Russian report said poison gas land mines had been found on the Crimea front. It was this incident which led to Mr. Churchill's reference to the subject, when he stated that confirmation was being awaited. The gas-for-gas ultimatum, however, was unmistakeable and clear.

Central Front — Occupation of Diego Suarez, chief port of naval value at the northern tip of Madagascar, by British land, sea and air forces that drove in Vichy French screens in a two-day skirmish, came as a dramatic development during the week. The Allied force tendered a peaceful solution first; and, only when this was refused, took possession of Courier Bay. There was a brief skirmish with garrison forces, before landing parties crossed the island and completed the occupation of Diego Suarez and intermediate points, after some resistance. Diego Suarez itself was occupied by British naval units, while marines and commandos were in the landing parties, and R.A.F. planes covered the whole manoeuvre. Casualties were light on both sides, British casualties being announced as less than 1,000, including the wounded. Vichy forces retired in two groups into the hills to the south, where outpost skirmishing was continuing. In the action, a French auxiliary vessel the Bougainville, and the submarine Bevéziers, were sunk. Some British planes were lost in the enterprise, described as necessary to forestall Japanese seizure of an important base in the Indian Ocean. Meanwhile, Ceylon was reinforced, and prepared for any attack that events may bring in the Indian Ocean. Across a wide gap to the east, Japanese columns made pronounced headway in Burma. They forced the evacuation of Akyab, midway up the Burmese west coast, and withdrawal northwestward of British columns from the Chindwin Valley. Confused fighting took place in the central zone, between Mandalay and Lashio, where isolated pockets of Chinese troops turned northeast and attacked the rear of Japanese columns operating on the Yunnan border of China. Chinese troops made a determined stand at Wanting and Chefang; and while Japanese sources claimed Lungling, some distance to the east, main bodies were in action west of that point, and parts of the invading force were trapped. It seemed clear, however, that British and Chinese troops in Burma had been wedged apart, and that independent Japanese columns were seeking to drive northwest and northeast from Mandalay. The eastern columns of the enemy had crossed the Yunnan border at two points, and were some distance into China. The western column was out of contact with British rearguard troops sixty miles northwest of Mandalay. British sources said 500,000 East Indians had been successfully evacuated from Burma over the Indian frontier, and that East Indian troops and British regulars were fighting a sturdy rearguard action, to win free from the Chindwin Valley. The Japanese launched a second thrust into Yunnan later, and heavy fighting followed in a strong Chinese counter-thrust. Rangoon was heavily bombed by United Nations planes from India; and Chittagong, on the Indian coast, suffered two sharp raids in retaliation. Except for consolidation, and isolated pockets still held by Chinese troops cut off in the main retreat, Burma was substantially in the hands of the enemy. Action in the Mediterranean was light; including lessened air raids on Malta, one thrust at Alexandria, and return blows on Bengasi and other occupied ports. Patrol action only was reported in the desert. Viscount Gort relieved General Dobbie, in command of Malta; Malta, after 2,000 raids, proving the nut that the Luftwaffe could not crack. Withdrawal of German planes was announced as the week ended.

In the Pacific (149-155 Days) — A sharp clash between naval forces administered a decisive check to Japanese aggression in the Pacific, in the heaviest blow struck by the United Nations in that theatre. Though confirmation was awaited, it was known that a considerable force of Japanese cruisers, aircraft carriers and destroyers, with troopships in convoy, had been engaged by United States and Australian naval and air units in a major sea-air action. General MacArthur, United Nations commander in Australia, announced that eleven Japanese naval vessels had been sunk and eight others damaged. Allied losses, not immediately announced, were said to have been relatively light. No capital ships were reported on either side, but sharp action was said to have taken place between heavy and light cruisers and escorting craft. The Japanese armed convoy was sighted off the Solomon Islands, and a running fight followed in the Coral Sea and adjacent waters. Aircraft participated on both sides. With nineteen of its units sunk or damaged, the enemy fleet broke off the engagement and withdrew. The immediate aim of the enemy thrust was not reported. Allied sources reported the sinking of one Japanese aircraft carrier, a heavy cruiser, a light cruiser, two destroyers, four gunboats and two transports, and the damaging of one carrier, a heavy cruiser, light cruiser, large seaplane tender and two transport or supply ships, to which was later added another seaplane tender and a naval tanker. Only meagre details were supplied of the actual engagement, which continued on several successive days, with air chases at the end. The result, however, was announced as a decisive check to Japanese plans in the Pacific, and an immediate relief of pressure in the Southwestern Pacific. Further enemy ship concentrations in the same area were being watched. Elsewhere in the Pacific, the fall of Corregidor was confirmed, after a long and gallant stand, and Manila Bay passed into the hands of the enemy. Fighting continued on Luzon, Cebu, Panay and Mindanao Islands in the Philippines, but its details were not reported. A United States mission was at Martinique, seeking assurance that that French possession would not pass under the control of Axis powers. Negotiations were reported proceeding amicably.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily Colonist of May 12, 1892)

A Suspicious Wire—Three or four yards from the bridge on the James Bay side a suspicious looking wire projects above ground, which many people fear is charged with electricity. If it be a live wire it is bound to cause trouble, but whether or not, it ought to be looked to by whoever is responsible.

St. John's Vestry Meeting—The adjourned vestry meeting will be held in the church this evening, at 8 o'clock, to take into consideration the advisability of adopting the envelope system and other important matters. Members of the church are cordially invited to attend to give their approval of the several matters to be discussed.

Back in Port—H.M.S. Daphne returned to Esquimalt Harbor yesterday, after cruising about the island since the 27th of last month, the tour including calls at such important ports as Ganges Harbor, Quathiaski Cove, etc. Fishing for the officers and gun drill for the men were the staple features of the trip.

The Observation Car

By G.B.

From an R.A.F. wing commander in Life, "There is an international gangster at large right now. We must apprehend or destroy him. We must provide an instrument to enforce permanent order, on the nations. We must have an international congress or League of Nations, and we must have an instrument to apply the international laws agreed upon—an international law force. The opportunity for creating such an organization will soon be ours. If our politicians do not grasp this opportunity no punishment or curse could be too great for them" . . . The United States has frozen prices on bread, meat, ice, soap, milk, electric light bulbs, clothing and many other articles. When is Canada going to follow suit? Judging by the prices of meat some persons must be amassing fabulous fortunes, and it is not the poor farmers or cattlemen . . . A sour-faced individual watched a motorist purchase five gallons of gasoline at a Vancouver Street garage and could not refrain from remarking, "Every gallon of gasoline you put into that car for pleasure helps to defeat the war effort." The motorist nonchalantly ripped a coupon from his ration book, lighted a cigarette and replied, "Listen, you hangover from the Victorian age. Every gallon of gasoline I buy gives the Provincial Government 7 cents to help carry on its noble work for the people of British Columbia" . . . Bill, the Broad Street barber, stropped the saw teeth from his trusty razor and prepared for the first victim. "You know," he remarked to the shop in general, "my wife awakened early this morning and told me she dreamed she had been able to purchase an entire new Summer outfit for $20." The boss thought for a few seconds and answered, "Knowing you as I do, I suppose you told her to go to sleep again and dream she got the outfit for $7.98 on terms" . . . Tonight H.M.C. Dockyard Civil Employees' Association is holding a party at the Crystal Garden to obtain funds for lunch-room equipment. We wish the association success.

According to Culbertson

There are two vital steps in the art of defence: 1. Recognize declarer's plan of attack. 2. Do what declarer doesn't want you to do.

Sounds simple, doesn't it? And the best part is that it really is simple, usually. Note today's deal.

West opened his fourth highest diamond. Dummy's king was played and a heart was led, declarer's intention obviously being to get rid of dummy's hearts and to ruff additional heart losers. East immediately realized that it would be wise to start an attack on dummy's ruffers, and he also saw that it might be embarrassing for his partner to lead a spade; he might well have an honor. Since the K-J of hearts would not be of any value if declarer had the A-Q, East correctly put up the heart jack in an attempt to gain the lead. Obviously the attempt was successful. As per plan East shifted to a trump. Now, if declarer had been playing ordinary rubber bridge, his best plan would have been to put up the spade ace and then to lead another heart, thus assuring himself to the highest degree possible of two heart ruffs in dummy. But it must be remembered that this was match-point duplicate. If declarer refused the spade finesse he might find himself with a low match-point score on the board, that is, the other declarers might have chosen to take the finesse and (if it succeeded) would end up with an extra trick.

At any rate, declarer let East's spade lead ride to the dummy. West won with the king and, following his partner's suggestion, returned a trump. Dummy's jack won and another heart was led. Now East hopped up with the heart king. He realized that West could not have another trump, hence it was vital that he, East, gain the lead so as to take out one more of dummy's potential ruffers. The heart king holding, East led the third spade and from that point declarer had no chance to fulfill his contract.

Lights Visible From Ocean Must Be Kept Dimmed

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11 (AP).—A nightly "dim-out" of lights that can be seen from the ocean was ordered today for Northern California. Each night, all lights visible from the sea must either be dimmed or extinguished.

The Office of Civilian Defence issued the order, at the request of Rear-Admiral J. W. Greenslade, commandant of the 12th Naval District. The area extends from the Santa Maria River, north to the Oregon line.

Director James C. Sheppard, of the 9th Regional Office of Civilian Defence, said the order was necessitated "by the accentuated submarine menace created by the shoreline silhouetting of American ships."

The order is effective tonight. It affects street lights, advertising and commercial lighting, residential and industrial windows, and street and highway traffic; all lights, in fact, that can be seen from the ocean.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

AIRMEN REACH CANADA

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP). — Canadian airmen returning to Canada from Britain, British trainees coming here to learn flying under the Commonwealth Air Training Plan, and Ferry Command pilots have arrived in Canada after an uneventful Atlantic crossing.

The trainees, who included Polish and Netherlands nationals, made up most of the group, which numbered hundreds. Some United States members of the R.A.F. were also included in the movement.

Churchill Tells Empire Tide Of War Turns to Favor Allies

LONDON, May 11 (CP)—Following is the partial text of Prime Minister Churchill's address Sunday:

I have served you for two years today as the King's First Minister. Therefore I thought it would be a [illegible] on a broadcast to look back a little on what we have come through. To consider how we stand now and to peer cautiously but at the same time resolutely into the future.

The tremendous period through which we have passed has certainly been full of anxieties and exertions. It has been marked by many misfortunes and disappointments.

At this time two years ago the Germans were beating down Holland and Belgium by unprovoked, brutal, merciless aggression and very soon there came upon us the total defeat of France and the fatal surrender of the men of Bordeaux.

Mussolini, the Italian miscalculator, thought he saw his chance of a cheap and easy triumph of rich plunder. He struck in the back a dying France and at what he believed was a doomed Britain.

All the world, even our best friends, thought our end had come . . .

It fell on me to express the sentiments and resolves of the British nation in that supreme crisis of its life. That was an honor far beyond any dreams or ambitions I had nursed, and one that cannot be taken away.

AFTER FRANCE FELL

For a whole year after the fall of France we stood alone, keeping the flag of freedom flying and the hopes of the world alive.

We conquered the Italian Empire. We destroyed or captured almost all of Mussolini's African army. We liberated Abyssinia. We have so far successfully protected Palestine, Syria, Persia and Iraq [illegible] German designs. We suffered grevious reverses in going to the aid of the heroic Greeks. We bore unflinchingly many heavy blows abroad, and still more in our cities at home.

And all this time cheered and helped by President Roosevelt and the United States, we stood alone, neither faltering nor flagging.

Where are we now?

Can anyone doubt if we, worthy of it as we shall be, will have our future in our hands?

As in the last war, we are moving through many reverses and defeats to complete the final victory.

We have only to endure and persevere to conquer.

Now we are no longer unarmed. We are well armed.

Now we are not alone. We have mighty allies . . . There can only be one end. When it will come, or how it will come, I cannot tell . . .

As has happened before in our island's history, by remaining steadfast and unyielding—stubborn if you will—against a Continental tyrant, we reached a moment when the tyrant made a fatal blunder . . .

INVASION OF RUSSIA

Even Hitler makes mistakes sometimes. In June last, without the slightest provocation and in breach of a pact of non-aggression, he invaded the lands of the Russian people.

At the time he had the strongest army in the world, trained in war, flushed with incredible unbroken success and equipped with limitless munitions and the most modern weapons. He also had secured to himself the advantages of surprise and treachery . . .

The Russians under their warrior chief Stalin sustained losses which no other country or government ever has borne in so short a time and lived. But they, like us, were resolved never to give in. They poured out their blood upon their native soil. They kept their faces to the foe.

From the very first day when they were attacked, when no one could tell how things would go, we made a brotherhood with them and a solemn compact to destroy Nazidom and all its works.

Then Hitler made his second blunder. He forgot about the Winter. There is a Winter, you know, in Russia.

For a good many months the temperature is apt to fall very low. There is snow and all that. Hitler forgot about this Russian Winter. He must have been very loosely educated. We all heard about it at school. But he forgot it.

I never made such a bad mistake as that. So the Winter came and fell upon his ill-clad armies and with the Winter came the valiant Russian counterattacks.

HITLER'S HEAVY LOSSES

No one can say with certainty how many millions of Germans already have perished in Russia and its snows—certainly more than were killed in the whole of four and a quarter years of the last war.

So besotted is this man in his lust for blood and conquest, so blasting is the power he wields over the lives of Germans, that he even blurted out the other day that his armies would be better clothed and his locomotives better prepared for their second Winter than they were for the first.

There was an admission about the length of the war that struck a chill into German hearts as cold as the icy winds of Russia.

Certain it is that the Russian armies are stronger than they were last year, that they learned by hard experience to fight the Germans in the field, that they are well equipped and their constancy and courage unquenched.

That is what is in front of Hitler . . .

He leaves behind him a Europe starving and in chains, a Europe in which his execution squads are busy in a dozen countries every day, a Europe which has learned to hate the Nazi name as no name ever has been hated in the history of mankind, a Europe ripe for revolt whenever opportunity comes.

But this is not all he left behind. We are on his tracks, and so is the United States. Already the Royal Air Force has set about him. A British and presently an American bombing offensive against Germany will be one of the principal features in this year's World War.

SUPERIOR IN AIR

Now is the time to use our increasingly superior air strength to strike hard and continually at the home front in the Germany from which so much evil has leaped out upon the world and which is the foundation of the whole enormous German invasion of Russia.

Now, while the German armies will be bleeding and burning up their strength against the 2,000-mile Russian line and when news of casualties by the hundreds of thousands is streaming back to the German Reich. Now is the time to bring home to the German people the wickedness of their rulers by destroying under their very eyes the factories and seaports on which their war effort depends.

German propaganda has been appealing to British public opinion to put a stop to these severe forms of warfare . . .

Herr Hitler himself has not taken at all kindly to this treatment, and he has been good enough to mingle terrible threats with his whining . . .

Herr Hitler has even called into question the humanity of these grim developments of war. What a pity this conversion did not take place before he bombed Warsaw or massacred 20,000 Dutch folk in defenceless Rotterdam or wreaked his cruel vengeance upon the open city of Belgrade . . .

In those days he used to boast that for every ton of bombs we dropped on Germany he would drop ten times or even 100 times as many on Britain . . .

NOW OTHER WAY ROUND

But now it is the other way round. We are in position to carry into Germany many times the tonnage of high explosives which he can send here.

The accuracy of our bombing has nearly doubled and with continued practice I expect it will improve still more.

Moreover, at the same time our methods of dealing with his raiders over here have more than repaid the immense care and science bestowed upon them and the very large scale upon which they are applied.

During April we destroyed about one-tenth of all raiding aircraft which assailed our Island, whereas, acting on a large scale several times as big, the losses we have suffered have been proportionately far smaller. You will remember how German propaganda films, thinking to terrorize neutral countries and glorying in their devastating violence, were wont to show rows of great German bombers being loaded up with bombs then casting showers of bombs upon defenceless towns and villages, choking them in smoke and flame.

All this was represented to neutral countries as the German way of making war. All this was intended to make the world believe resistance to German will was impossible and subjugation and slavery was the safest and easiest road.

THOSE DAYS GONE

Those days are gone . . . We have a long list of German cities in which vital industries of the German war machine are established. All these it will be our stern duty to deal with as we have already dealt with Luebeck, with Rostock, and a half-dozen important places.

The civil population of Germany have, however, an easy way of escape from these severities. All they have to do is to leave cities where munition work is being carried on. Abandon their work and go out into the fields and watch the home fires burning from a distance.

In this way they may find time for meditation and repentance. There they may remember the millions of Russian women and children they have driven out to perish in snows and mass executions of peasantry and prisoners of war which in varying scales they are inflicting upon so many of the ancient and famous peoples of Europe.

There they may remember that it is the villainous Hitlerite regime which is responsible for dragging Germany through misery and slaughter to ultimate ruin. And the tyrant's overthrow is the first step to world liberation.

We now wait in what is a stormy lull, but still a lull before the hurricane bursts in its fullest fury on the Russian front. We cannot tell when it will begin.

NO NAZI OFFENSIVE

We have not so far seen any evidence of those great concentrations of German masses which usually precede their large scale offensive. They may have been successfully concealed or may not yet have been launched eastward, but it is now May 10 and days are passing. We send our salutations to the Russian armies and we hope that the thousands of tanks and airplanes which have been carried to their aid from Britain and America will be a useful contribution to their own magnificently developed munitions resources.

There, however, is one serious matter which I must mention to you. The Soviet Government have expressed to us the view that the Germans in the desperation of their assault may make use of poison gas against the armies and people of Russia. We are ourselves firmly resolved not to use this odious weapon unless it is used first by the Germans. Knowing our Hun, however, we have not neglected to make preparations on a formidable scale.

I wish to make it plain that we shall treat the unprovoked use of poison gas against our Russian ally exactly as if it were used against ourselves, and if we are satisfied that this new outrage has been committed by Hitler we will use our great and growing air superiority in the West to carry gas warfare on the largest possible scale far and wide against the military objectives in Germany.

MATERIAL FOR RUSSIA

Meanwhile our deliveries of tanks, aircraft and munitions to Russia from Britain and the United States continue upon a full scale. We have the duty of escorting convoys to their destination and our sailors and merchant seamen face the fearful storms of the Arctic Circle, lurking U-boats and shore-based aircraft as well as attacks by German destroyers and surface craft with their customary steadfastness and faithful courage.

So far, though not without some loss both to supply ships and their escorts, every convoy has successfully fought its way through and we intend to persevere and fight it out on this northern route to the utmost of our strength.

Is there anything else we can do to take the weight off Russia? We are urged from many quarters to invade the Continent of Europe and so form a second front.

Naturally I shall not disclose what our intentions are, but there is one thing I will say. I welcome the militant, aggressive spirit of the British nation so strongly shared across the Atlantic Ocean. Is it not far better than in the thirty-second month of this hard war we should find this general desire to come to the closest grips with the enemy than that there should be any signs of war weariness? . . .

TAKING MADAGASCAR

This week two islands have been in our minds. One is very large, the other very small—Madagascar and Malta.

We have found it necessary to take precautions to prevent Madagascar falling into enemy hands by some dishonorable and feeble drifting or connivance by Vichy like that which injured us so much in Indo-China. It is three months since the decision was taken and more than two months since the expedition left these shores.

Its first task was to secure the splendid harbor of Diego Suarez, which, if it had fallen into Japanese hands, might have paralyzed all our communications with India and the Middle East.

While troops were on the sea I must tell you I felt a shiver every time I saw the word "Madagascar" in the newspapers. All these articles with diagrams and measured maps, showing how very important it was for us to take Madagascar and forestall the Japanese and be first for once, filled me with apprehension.

There was no question of leakage or a breach of confidence.

As they say, great minds think alike, but shrewd surmise may be as dangerous as leakage, and it was with considerable relief that I learned that the difficulties of our soldiers and their losses had not been aggravated and that the operation had been swiftly and effectually carried out.

TO BE HELD IN TRUST

We hold these places in trust for that gallant France which we have known and marched with and whose restoration to her place among great powers of the world is indispensable to the future of Europe. Madagascar rests under safeguard of the United Nations. Vichy, in the grip of Germany, has been made to bluster. The France that rose at St. Nazaire, and will one day rise in indescribable fury against the Nazis, understands.

The smaller island is Malta, a tiny rock of history and romance.

Today we welcome back to our shores General Dobbie, for nearly two years the heroic defender of Malta.

The burden which he has borne so honorably for so long entitles hi mto release and repose.

In Lord Gort we have a new impulse. His work at Gibraltar has been of the highest order. It was not his fault that our armies did not have their chance in France. He is a grand fighter. For the moment the terrific air attack on Malta has slackened. It looks as if a lot of enemy aircraft upon which the enemy concentrated such immense preponderance of strength, and for which they have sacrificed so many of those aircraft which they now have to count more carefully, will have been definitely won.

But other perils remain and I know of no man in the British Empire to whom I would sooner entrust the combatting and beating down of those perils than Lord Gort.

LOOKING BACKWARD

If we look back today over the course of the war as it has so far unfolded we can see that it seems to divide itself into four very clearly defined chapters.

The first ended with the overrunning by the Nazis of Western Europe and the fall of France.

The second chapter, Britain alone, ended with Hitler's attack upon Russia.

I would call the third chapter which then began "The Russian Glory." May it long continue.

The fourth chapter opened at Pearl Harbor when the military party in Japan treacherously attacked the United States and Great Britain in the Far East. That is where we are now.

The aggression of Italy in 1940 had carried war from Europe to Africa. The aggression of Japan has involved all Asia and in one way or another has drawn in or will draw in the whole of the American continent. Thus the struggle has become world wide and the fate of all states and nations and their future is at stake.

"UNIVERSAL WAR"

This latest chapter of "Universal War" confronts us with many difficulties and immense complications. But is there any thoughtful, sensible person who cannot see how vastly and decisively awful balances have turned to the advantage of the cause of freedom?

The Japanese, taking advantage of fact that the United States had striven for so long to keep the peace, have seized more easily and more quickly than they expected their lands of booty and desire in the East Indian Archipelago.

Henceforward they will find resistance stiffening on all their widely spread fronts.

They can ill afford losses such as those they have sustained in the naval action of the Coral Seas. So far we have no detailed account, but if only from the lies the Japanese themselves have felt compelled to tell of sinkings of battleships of the Warspite class it is obvious that a most vigorous and successful battle has been fought by United States and Australian forces.

Japanese war lords cannot be indifferent to the losses of aircraft inflicted upon them at so many points and particularly off the northern coasts of Australia and in their repulse at Colombo and Trincomalee.

At the start the pent-up, saved-up resources of Japan were bound to prevail in the Far Eastern theatre.

GREATER THAN JAPAN

But the strength of the United States expressed in units of modern war power—actual and potential—is alone many times greater than the power of Japan.

And we also will make our contribution to the final defeat and punishment of this ambitious and greedy nation.

Time will, however, be needed before the true strengths on either side of the Eastern war become manifest.

I am not prone to make predictions, but I have no doubt tonight that British and American sea power will grip and hold the Japanese and that overwhelming air power, supported by covering military operations, will lay them low.

This would come to pass very much sooner should anything happen to Hitler and Europe.

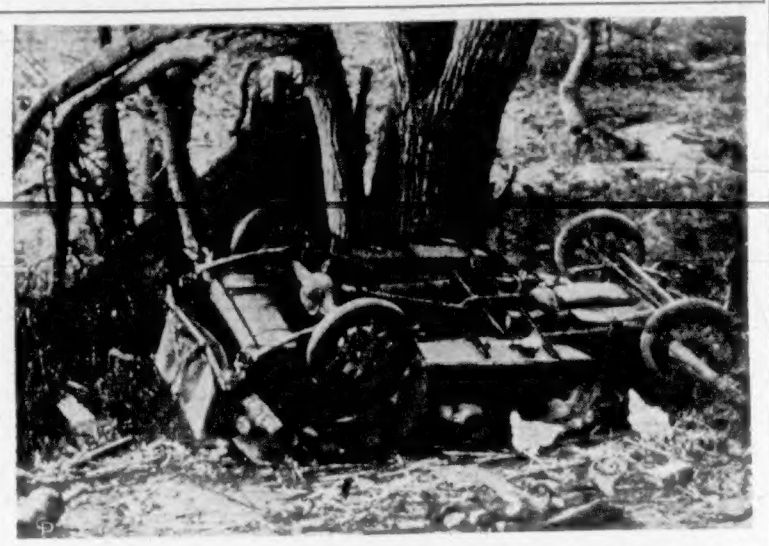

Therefore, tonight I give you a message of good cheer.

You deserve it and the facts endorse it.

But be it good cheer or be it bad cheer it will make no difference to us. We shall drive on to the end and do our duty, win or die.

God helping us, we can do no other.

gas masks for all civilians and extensively equipped decontamination squads and shelters, date back to Munich days.

Despite the immediate danger of reprisal, some military observers believe, however, that the temptation to the Germans to use gas in Russia is growing.

The German army is engaged in positional warfare on most fronts and the areas through which it hopes to drive this year are studded with strong points which vary in size from a small village to a large fortified area.

In Poland, Flanders and France, the Germans moved around these areas and reduced them at leisure. Against Russia they found this impossible.

Gas would be a cheaper and easier method of overcoming these points than assault by armored and infantry divisions. Latest figures show there is one gas battalion per corps in the German army and some German tanks are equipped for the emission of gas.

IS HOPEFUL OF LOSING ACCENT

Actress Who Knows Several Languages Will Leave for Hollywood Shortly

Mrs. Tamara Labutina Hodgman, who reached here from Vancouver, speaks French, Italian, English, Russian, one of the forty-eight Chinese dialects and Japanese, but when she enters motion picture work in Hollywood shortly, she hopes to lose her accent, she said in an interview at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. Hodgman was born in Omsk, Siberia. She went to Shanghai with her parents when only eleven months of age, and was brought up in that city's Russian community, and educated at convent schools.

TWICE IN HOLLYWOOD

"I have been in Hollywood twice, the first time about nine months ago," she said. "I was offered a picture contract, but I refused it because I wanted to rejoin my husband, who is serving with the British army in India. Now I find I can't get back there, so I shall be glad to be working again."

The actress, who won a beauty contest in Shanghai, has acted in Chinese films. These, she said, are incomprehensible to Occidentals, since only Chinese casts and technicians are used. "The Chinese sense of humor," Mrs. Hodgson explained, "is something that we cannot grasp. The technicians, however, try to copy lots of the Hollywood styles, but the films have no love scenes in them."

Mrs. Hodgman confessed that she is worried about her parents, who are still in Shanghai, and that she tried unsuccessfully to get into touch with them while in Seattle. Before she leaves for Los Angeles, she will sing in Vancouver for the Red Cross.

SEEKS GOOD ROLES

Though she studied singing for three years, Mrs. Hodgman remarked, "I don't think I'll be a prima donna. However, if there is any work I can do here for war relief, I shall be only too glad to carry it out."

The actress was in Shanghai during the Sino-Japanese "incidents" of 1937 and 1938. These, she said briefly, were "very unpleasant."

"I hope to get some good parts in Hollywood," she said in closing the interview. "I would like to play something that audiences here will understand."

Octogenarian Is Called to Rest

At the Jubilee Hospital on Sunday the death occurred of John Carmichael, of 13 Lurline Road, at the age of eighty-one years. Mr. Carmichael was born in Glasgow, Scotland, and came to Canada sixty-nine years ago. For a number of years he resided in Montreal and Winnipeg, prior to coming to Victoria in 1905. For twenty-six years he was blacksmith with the B.C. Electric Company here, and was a member of the Beaver Lodge, I.O.O.F., Montreal.

He is survived by two brothers, James, Roanoke, Virginia, and Andrew, Newton, B.C., and two sisters, Mrs. Gorman, Montreal, and Mrs. Cuthbert, Winnipeg; also nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held in the Thomson Funeral Home on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. James Hood will officiate and interment will be in the family plot in the Royal Oak Burial Park.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning, and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy or Cunningham Drug Stores, or any druggist, and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, in a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended, and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money. (Advt.)

To be his alone... Always!

Each morning, wake up your complexion with my Cashmere Bouquet 3-purpose Cream — the light, daytime cream that helps lubricate your skin . . . acts as a perfect powder base . . . makes a grand before-date cleansing cream.

At bedtime, cleanse your skin of the day's dust and stale make-up with the sensationally new Cashmere Bouquet Cold Cream. And, while you sleep, let it soothe and tone your tissues. It's a truly wonderful slumber cream—not heavy—not light—just right for overnight!

Yes, let my two wonder creams help you win his heart!

NATIONAL WAR LABOUR BOARD

COST OF LIVING BONUS

The Dominion Bureau of statistics has found that the cost of living index number for April 1, 1942, of 115.9 (adjusted index 115) has not risen by one whole point or more over the index number for October 1, 1941, of 115.5 (adjusted index 114.6). Accordingly, the National War Labour Board, pursuant to the provisions of Section 12, of Order in Council P.C. 8253, determines and announces, for the period May 15, 1942, to August 15, 1942, subject to the right of employers or employees to apply to a War Labour Board for authorization of payment of such an amount of cost of living bonus as a Board may determine to be "fair and reasonable", under the provisions of the Order, that:

(a) There shall be no change in the amount or precentage of cost of living bonuses presently being paid;

(b) An employer who has not been paying cost of living bonuses may not begin to pay such bonuses.

Gifts Presented

Miss Beryl Vincent, a May bride-elect, was the honored guest at a surprise miscellaneous shower held recently at which her sister, Mrs. Leonard R. Parsons, was the hostess at her home, 563 Manchester Road. The many handsome gifts were wrapped in pastel shaded tissues and placed in a prettily-decorated basket, the color scheme of which was pale yellow and lilac. After the surprise packages were opened an unusual novelty contest was held in which Mrs. Fred Meads was declared the winner. The supper table was centred with a large crystal bowl and crystal candleaticks with lilac-shaded candles on mirrors decorated with gypsophilia; and the flowers were [illegible] and lilies of the valley. The invited guests included Mrs. E. Vincent, grandmother of the bride; Mrs. J. Kent-Fawkes, Mrs. Edward Parsons, Mrs. F. H. Parsons, Mesdames J. R. Howard, K. H. Parsons, Doris Mauro, J. C. Parsons, Fred Meads, Beatrice Williams, Misses Mabel Johnson, Ivy Thompson, Anne Jevning, Pat Groves, Laura Warrell, Eileen Lamb.

Appointment Is of Interest In Victoria

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP).—Canadian Women's Army Corps headquarters tonight announced appointment of Capt. P. H. Lee-Wright, a Canadian from Victoria who has spent most of her life in England, as a headquarters staff officer.

She replaces Capt. Margaret Eaton, of Toronto, who goes to Montreal as staff officer there, replacing Capt. M. J. P. Ramsay, who has been appointed assistant commandant of the C.W.A.C. Training Centre at Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Que.

The army terminology for ranks in the C.W.A.C. went into effect recently, when the corps became part of the army instead of an auxiliary to it.

Captain Lee-Wright was born in Victoria but was educated in England. She returned to Victoria three years ago and became a member of the British Women's Service Corps, pioneer women's military organization.

Later, when the corps became affiliated with the Canadian Red Cross, she was adjutant for British Columbia. At the same time she was doing voluntary work as secretary to Col. H. E. Goodman, the district recruiting officer. She was one of Victoria's first C.W.A.C. recruits.

Her father, Lt.-Col. H. Lee-Wright, served with the Imperials in the first Great War, and now is on active duty at Hamilton.

Captain Ramsay served in the last war as a nurse, first in France and later in the Mediterranean area. She is the wife of Lt.-Col. G. Stuart Ramsay, of Montreal.

Schubert Club To Give Recital

The Schubert Club will present a recital in Centennial United Church tonight at 8:15 o'clock, when the guest artists will be Margaretta Green, organist; Grace Timp, pianist, and Fraser Lister, baritone. The ladies' choir of thirty-three voices will be conducted by Frederic King, the accompanist being Mrs. Grace Timp. Margaretta Green and Grace Timp will be heard in duets, and Fraser Lister will assist the choir. The programme is sponsored by Centennial Church, and the proceeds will augment the A.R.P. funds for the church.

Weddings

GWYER—RAY

The marriage took place in London, Ont., on May 6, at Centennial Church, Rev. R. T. Richards officiating, when Lillian Elizabeth, daughter of the late Mr. William Ray and Mrs. Ray, Victoria, became the bride of Staff Q.M.S. Walter Gwyer, R.C.O.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gwyer, also of Victoria. The wedding music was played by Mrs. Theodore Gray, and the attendants were Pusilier and Mrs. J. E. Barclay. Given in marriage by Mrs. William Barclay, the bride wore a pretty gown of powder blue crepe in two-piece design, with hat and accessories in a dusky pink shade. Her corsage bouquet was of orchids. Mrs. Barclay wore an old gold crepe dress with brown accessories and a corsage bouquet of Talisman roses and carnations. A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Barclay, Central Avenue, where the military motif mingled with Spring flowers in the decorations. The young couple will take up residence in London, Ont.

KING—COOK

NANAIMO, May 11.—Miss Ann Margaret Cook, popular member of the younger set and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cook, Waddington Road, and Mr. Bruce Robertson King, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. King, Machleary Street, were married in the United Church Albert Street Mission Manse by Rev. J. J. Nixon. Both families are well known here, and the groom is a native son of Nanaimo. The bride wore a two-piece dress of navy blue, with navy and white accessories and a shoulder corsage of forget-me-nots and pink rosebuds. Miss Ann Clemens, Vancouver, was bridesmaid and Mr. Frank Foster, best man. Forty-five relatives and friends attended a luncheon in the Malaspina Hotel after the ceremony. The couple left for Harrison Hot springs to spend their honeymoon, and will reside in the Seaview Apartments, Ladysmith.

HINDS—LEHANE

The marriage of Maureen Theresa (Mary), only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lehane, 555 Dupplin Road, to Mr. Clarence George Hinds, R.C.N., youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hinds, 220 Brunswick Street, Halifax, took place on May 2, in Halifax at St. Paul's Rectory, Rev. Father D. J. MacPherson officiating. The bride and groom will make their home in Halifax.

Women Protest Against Use of Slot Machines

Local Council Expresses Indignation at Non-Enforcement of By-Law—Fuel Situation Causes Concern—Jam-Making to Start This Summer

Grest indignation was expressed by the members of the Local Council of Women at their meeting yesterday afternoon over the fact that so many slot machines are in operation in the city of Victoria. It was pointed out that although slot machines, as such, were abolished by a by-law some years ago, pin machines and many other gambling devices are still in operation.

Members expressed themselves strongly as feeling that a campaign should be started to have this by-law amended to include any machine which can be used for gambling or games of chance, and the women were asked to remember the power their vote gives them at the proper time. These machines return a large percentage of profit to the operators and several cases of crime among the younger population were the direct result of these machines, it was stated. A committee headed by Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin was set up to study this matter and to report at the June meeting.

FUEL SITUATION

In response to a letter from Dr. W. A. Carrothers noting that the fuel situation is being dealt with, it was felt that the distribution of fuel is still a problem, many people being unable to obtain any while their neighbors receive several cords. A motion that the council write again to Dr. W. A. Carrothers asking the Coal and Petroleum Board to institute immediately a "fair and adequate distribution of fuel to the public" was passed.

A suggestion that conscientious objectors be used as labor to supply the shortage at the various camps, was made, and will be forwarded to the proper authorities.

Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, who was in the chair, gave a report on the Provincial Council meeting held April 16 in North Vancouver, supplemented by a report from Mrs. W. Rayfuse.

TO MAKE JAM

Mrs. A. P. Rayment announced that the jam committee, in conjunction with the Red Cross, had obtained the use of Sunshine Inn for the jam-making this season. Members were urged to save all jam tins, honey tins; in fact, any tin which is the four-pound size and in good condition; it was pointed out that even the tins which are opened by taking off a strip of tin, can be resoldered.

A letter from the Rehabilitation Board asking for suggestions and comments was handed to Mrs. J. L. Gates, convener of laws for women and children, to deal with.

Miss J. E. M. Bruce gave an interesting report on women in industry in British Columbia. She mentioned that women were working in lumber mills, even handling the saws, in electrical works, airplane factories, wire rope and steel tank works; they were making saws and cutting teeth, doing all work in machine shops except that requiring heavy lifting, and one woman was working in a gun works. One company reported that women grading spruce are doing better work than that previously done by men.

COUNCIL TABLE

A vote of thanks from the council was tendered to Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin for her work during the past season in organizing and leading the Women's Council Table. In replying, Mrs. MacLaurin stated that the council table will reopen in September and that the general theme for the year will be "Post-War Reconstruction."

The council table voted to join the United Organizations Security Committee as an associate member.

Reporting on the meeting sponsored by the council last week when Mrs. F. John Scroggie addressed the women of Victoria on "British Women in a World Crisis," Mrs. Blair Reed announced that there was a balance of about $12, which the council voted to donate to A.R.P. work. Letters were read from the Women's Voluntary Servies in Toronto outlining the work undertaken by them. These letters will be studied by the council to see if there is any suggestion which could be utilized in this city.

Replying to a recent protest re the waste of paper and printing sent to the national council in connection with literature sent out regarding the price ceiling, the national council pointed out that nineteen societies had been asked to meet the Minister of Finance in a conference at Ottawa, and all were asked to distribute this literature to their societies. There was naturally some overlapping, the letter said, but suggested that if all societies would make an effort to see that every woman, whether she belonged to a society or not, receive copies, this overlapping could be overcome.

PLANS FOR CONFERENCE

Nominations for the national council elections which will be held at the statutory executive which will take the place of an annual meeting in Montreal, May 25 to 29, were made. Mrs. A. C. Bagley, of Vancouver; Mrs. F. G. Grevett, Dr. Geneva Mixener, Edmonton, and Mrs. C. W. Murray, of New Westminster, were nominated as vice-presidents; Mrs. Thomas Bingham, of Vancouver, as convener of cinema and printed matter, and Judge Helen G. McGill, of Toronto, as convener of laws concerning women and children. Mrs. Paul Smith, president of Vancouver Local Council of Women, will be the Victoria Council's delegate to this meeting.

It was announced that for the duration of the war conveners of nationally organized committees will be eligible to attend the executive meetings of the provincial council.

THE evacuation centre at the Brentwood Institute Hall has been incorporated as a part of the Saanich A.R.P. organization and is being equipped to accommodate seventy-five persons. The supplies consist of food for one day, 400 articles of clothing, blankets, towels, utility bags and other essentials necessary to the comfort of evacuees. The purpose of the centre is to provide a temporary shelter until homes can be found. The emergency committee includes Mrs. W. D. Hamilton (chairman), Mrs. W. A. Sturrock and Mrs. H. Gilbert. Mrs. G. Williams is in charge of the kitchen, and Mrs. T. Pelliter the dining-room. Mr. A. D. Corker is head of the A.R.P. evacuation department, and Mr. L. Bott is the district warden. The upper photograph shows the assistants serving soup for West Saanich schoolchildren, seen below in the dining-room at the practice meal arranged recently at the centre.

BIG INCREASES IN PRODUCTION

War Expenditures 50 Per Cent Higher—Taxes Are Taking Profits

Reporting a vastly increased war production across Canada, Clinton Henderson, Montreal businessman and exporter, yesterday told the annual meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, held jointly with the Gyro Club in Spencer's dining-room, that Government taxation is definitely taking the profit out of war.

Describing the production of war materials as being "stepped up tremendously," Mr. Henderson asserted that war expenditures would reach the "staggering sum" of $2,000,000,000 this year, nearly 50 per cent higher than last year.

"As one travels across Canada one cannot help but be impressed and heartened by the rapidity with which the country's productive capacity is being converted to meet the limitless demands of war," he declared.

The Government is taking four-fifths of the million dollar increased earnings of large corporations, while approximately only one-tenth of those earnings are likely to reach the stockholders, who are again taxed, Mr. Henderson pointed out.

Speaking on a wartime concept of business, he said the chief objects of taxation were to reduce spending, and enable the Government to achieve maximum war production in the minimum of time, while through these two achieving a third objective, the checking of inflationary tendencies. The general principle in wartime, he pointed out, was to restrict consumer purchases as severely and as justly as possible so that men, materials and machines may be "switched" to war work.

CHAMBER SPENDS $6,617

The Victoria Chamber of Commerce ended the year 1941 with expenditures totaling $6,617.81, leaving a cash balance of $33.59, George I. Warren, treasurer, reported. A vote of thanks to the speaker was proposed by Neil Grant, president of the Gyro Club. Also attending were D. J. Morrell, acting secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, Montreal, and G. Wellburn, president of the Duncan Chamber of Commerce. J. V. Johnson, president of the Victoria chamber, presided.

HE KEEPS HIS JOB Though TURNED 70

House Painter Who Takes His Kruschen Every Day

How many painters can continue to work when they are over 70? Here is one who can—and he still does some of the most trying jobs in his trade. How does he do it? He tells us in this letter:—

"I have been in the habit of taking a pinch of Kruschen Salts in every cup of tea I have had for a great number of years. I may state that I am turned 70 years of age. I am a house painter by trade and still at work. I can work off any ladder, no matter what height, or in cradles which are hung outside high buildings. I have been asked many times how I carry my age so well, as I only look about 50. Well, I tell them all that I take Kruschen Salts regularly every day."—J.S.A.

Kruschen is a combination of numerous mineral salts which assist in stimulating your liver, kidneys and digestive tract to healthy, regular activity. They ensure internal cleanliness, and so help to keep the blood-stream free from impurities.

Kruschen is a British product, obtainable at all drug stores, 25c and 75c.

Pleasant Week-End Yacht Club Ceremony

IN appreciation of his many years of service in furthering the grand old sport of yachting in Victoria, members of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, on Saturday night, took advantage of Ben Temple's eightieth birthday to present him with a thoughtful token of regard and, at the same time, eat a bit of birthday cake with him. Ben, the oldest member of the club, is shown in the picture accepting a water-color painting of yachts at Cowichan Bay from Arthur D. Crease; while in the background, Robert Armstrong (left) and W. H. Golby apparently enjoyed the event as much as the principals.

R.C.A.F. Casualties

OTTAWA, May 11 (CP). — The Royal Canadian Air Force in its 261st casualty list of the war, today, reported eight men killed on active service, one dead from injuries suffered on active service, three missing after air operations and one missing on active service. All the casualties were overseas. Three men previously reported missing overseas were listed as now for official purposes presumed dead; two previously reported missing were reported prisoners of war, and one previously reported missing was reported interned. Following is the latest list of casualties:

Overseas—Killed on active service, Osten, Max Martin, P.O., Oxbow, Sask.; Palin, James Arnold Huke, P.O., J7338, A. H. Palin (father), 1729 Hampshire Road, Victoria; Blake, Leonard Herbert, Sgt., Saskatoon; Brown, Thomas Lloyd, Sgt., Wolseley, Sask.; Hancock, John Patrick, Sgt., Strome, Alta.; Maxwell, Arnold Grant, Sgt., Portage la Prairie, Man.; Mesheau, George Lawson MacIntosh, Sgt., Rexton, N.B.; Sadler, John Murray, Sgt., Chatham, N.B. Ship Blasted in Broad Daylight Towed to Safety

LAKE WORTH, Fla., May 11 (AP). —A British medium-sized merchantman was attacked recently in broad daylight, within one and one-half miles of an Atlantic beach, by an Axis submarine, but the vessel was towed to safety at an east coast port, the United States Navy announced today.

The explosion startled residents along the coast, and hundreds of the curious congregated on shore to see the ship, her stern deep in the water, before she was towed to harbor.

Two men in the engine room were killed by a torpedo blast. Thirty others escaped in lifeboats.

Victorian Among Graduates Given Gunnery Badges

MOSSBANK, Sask., May 11 (CP). —J. P. M. Haughy, of Burnaby, B.C., who served with the International Brigade during the Spanish Civil War, was among wireless operator air gunners graduating here today at No. 2 Bombing and Gunnery School of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Wing Commander F. C. Higgins, commanding officer of the station, made the presentation of air gunner badges.

G. V. Munro, of Victoria, B.C., a former member of the R.C.N.V.R., and L. N. Munro, of Vancouver, B.C., who transferred from the army to the air force, were among the successful graduates. The class, which was composed entirely of Canadians, included:

British Columbia—L. N. Munro and H. C. Pithie, Vancouver; J. P. M. Haughy, Burnaby; E. P. Hunt, Summerland; G. V. Munro, Victoria; W. L. Sanderson, Peachland.

MERCHANT SHIP SUNK

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP).—The United States Navy Department announced today a medium-sized British merchant vessel had been torpedoed off the Atlantic Coast and that survivors had been landed at an East Coast port.

SQUIRREL GROUNDED

HURRERSFIELD, England (CP).—Pierre, a flying French squirrel, has been grounded. Veteran of many bombing expeditions over Germany in the pocket of a Royal Air Force flight lieutenant, the little animal has been presented to a Huddersfield girl.

Cargo Carriers Of Wood May Be Built on Coast

VANCOUVER, May 11 (CP).—A[illegible] Maritime Commission, said today he was making a survey of British Columbia shipyards with a view to the possible placing of orders for wooden freighters here.

"This survey is to find out what the wooden shipyards of Canada and the United States can do if such construction proves essential," Mr Innes-Taylor said.

The survey Mr. Innes-Taylor is making is continent-wide. He has just come from Eastern Canada, where he looked over yards there and in the Maritimes. From Vancouver he will go down the Pacific Coast to Mexico.

"Washington will not build wooden ships if enough steel ones can be produced," he said. "But at the present time there is every chance that wooden freighters will have to be built."

AQUILA, ONOWAY AND ISHKOODAH WINNERS IN SUNDAY'S RACES

The formal opening of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club's racing season took place Sunday, when some nine small craft competed in the first scheduled races of the organization's yachting year. Aquila, Onaway and Ishkoodah were the winners in the star, dinghy and snipe classes respectively.

Commencing at 10:30 a.m., the boats finished in the following order Stars, Aquila, J. Stonehewer, 11:29:50; Ripples, Walter Walsh, 11:30:15; Boykin, Walter Blandy, 11:30:29. Dinghies, Onoway, C. Officer of the day was Fred N. D. Robertson; Jack Healy, was timekeeper, while R. V. James, aboard Lalonga, patroled the course, which ran from the clubhouse dolphin to Beach mark, to Flower Island, to Paterson Point, to Beach mark, to starting point, twice around.

Absent Shipyard Workers Hold Up Ship Production

VANCOUVER, May 11 (CP).—Machinists and blacksmiths maintained their stand over the week-end against co-operating in a full-time production programme in British Columbia shipyards despite an order in council legalizing the programme and posted in the shipyards during the past week.

Members of nine other unions, however, worked full time over the week-end on production of freighters for Wartime Merchant Shipping, Limited.

The new programme calls for a seven-day week in the yards with no overtime pay Saturdays or Sundays. Workers lay off every seventh day on a staggered system.

Clarence Wallace, spokesman for two yards, said absence of machinists from their posts over the week-end held up other workers.

McMURRAY AIRFIELD

EDMONTON, May 11 (CP).—The new McMurray airfield of Canadian Pacific Airlines probably will be in operation "shortly," William Windrum, superintendent of the Mackenzie division of C.P.A., said today. Other fields are being built at Yellowknife and Fort Smith.

Up-Island Flyer Killed in Plane Crash on Sunday

CALGARY, May 11 (CP).—Flt.-[illegible] Flt.-Lt. A. Strugnall, of England, were killed instantly yesterday, when their plane crashed near Seebe, approximately fifty miles from Calgary.

The plane, a trainer, was attached to No. 2 Wireless School here and was engaged in a routine training flight. Widows of both men live here.

Cause of the accident was obscure and a court of inquiry has been convened, said Wing Cmdr. G. P. Dunlop, officer commanding the school. The weather, however, is believed to have been a contributing factor.

DUNCAN, May 11.—Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Mainguy, Duncan, received word late yesterday afternoon of the death in Calgary of their elder son, Acting-Flight-Lieut. Patrick Mainguy.

Flight-Lieut. Mainguy was born in Victoria twenty-six years ago. He was educated at Shawnigan Lake School. In 1937 he joined the R.C.A.F. as wireless and electrical mechanic. In November, 1940, he transferred to the Empire Air Training Plan School in Ontario as instructor. He became a flying officer in the Autumn of 1941, and in April, 1942, was made acting-flight-lieutenant in charge of the Air Operations section at Calgary.

He is survived by his parents, a brother, James, at King's College, Halifax, his wife at Calgary, and an eighteen-months-old son who is at present in Duncan.

To conserve material socks in Britain will be shorter.

Don't be a CUPBOARD QUISLING!

"Cupboard Quislings"! Is that too hard a name for people who selfishly lay in unnecessary stocks of clothes or food, or other goods for fear of shortages?

No! The name is not too hard, even though it may be earned through thoughtlessness. For in reality they are doing, in a petty, mean way, what the Quisling does in the open.

Anyone who buys more than is necessary for current needs—

Is breaking his country's law for personal advantage.

Is betraying his loyal neighbours and those who are not so well off as he.

Is, in effect, depriving our fighting men of the munitions and supplies they must have to defend us.

Is hindering our war effort and helping our enemies.

Loyal citizens avoid putting unnecessary and abnormal strains on our factories. In time of war, loyal citizens do not spend one dollar more on civilian goods than is absolutely necessary for current needs.

The law provides for fines up to $5,000 and imprisonment up to two years for hoarding; and hoarding is just another word for unnecessary selfish buying.

In cases where it is advisable for you to buy in advance of your immediate requirements—such as your next season's coal supply—you will be encouraged to do so by direct statement from responsible officials.

American Pilots and Newsman in Wild Bid For Life Over Ocean

Dash for Freedom After Fall of Bataan Brings Terrifying Experiences to Group—Plane Is Shot at by Enemy—Reach Australia

Dean Schedler, Associated Press staff writer—last American newspaperman to leave the Philippines after the fall of Bataan—is recuperating in a hospital somewhere in Australia after an epic 2,000-mile dash for freedom with two United States army pilots, Capt. Charles Sneed and Lieut. Parry L. Franks, both of San Francisco. Schedler, twenty-seven-year-old native of Stillwater, Okla., wasn't seriously injured en route, but is suffering from near exhaustion and tea burns as well as a small head wound received in a bombing during the final days before Bataan fell to the Japanese.

By DEAN SCHEDLER
As Told to C. Yates McDaniel
Associated Press Staff Writer

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, May 11 (AP).—A few days after the fall of Bataan, I successfully eluded Japanese forces surrounding Corregidor—which then was under heavy Japanese bombing and artillery attacks—and made my way to a secret air field where I met Captain Charles Sneed and Lieutenant Parry L. Franks of the United States Army Air Force.

I left the beleaguered fortress for this rendezvous under instructions from General Jonathan Wainwright. There Captain Sneed and I crowded into the rear seat of an old two-seater biplane trainer of the Philippine Army.

With Lieutenant Franks piloting, we took off in the darkness from a shell-pocked runway. It was good-bye to Bataan and Corregidor from where I had helped report the gallant stand of the American and Filipino troops.

North of —— we sighted a concentration of Japanese vessels running blackout. The ships opened anti-aircraft fire and tracers climbed under our plane's wings.

HIGH IN THE SKY

To gain altitude we frantically threw out revolvers, seat cushions, some instruments and everything else removable and succeeded in evading the fire at 10,000 feet. Soon we were shivering with cold.

At dawn the airplane was flying over the open sea, having been blown far off the course during the night.

With gasoline running low, Franks sighted a small island through heavy ground fog. He didn't know whether the island was Japanese-held, but had no alternative except to land.

He banked over the trees and set the plane down on the curving beach. The plane ran several hundred feet and nosed over in soft sand. All three of us were pitched onto the sand, scratched and burned.

"We saw no signs of life, but were too exhausted to investigate and crawled into a palm grove for several hours sleep, not knowing whether the island was in the hands of friends or enemies.

At noon we were awakened by small Filipino children cautiously approaching the plane. When the children saw the white stars on the wings, they ran away shouting "Americano Aviators," and soon returned with adults from a nearby village.

A DAMAGED PLANE

The men were friendly and spoke some English. They gave us coconuts and righted our plane, which had one wing corner torn, a bent propeller, ad a bent tail rudder. There were a few sand tears in the fabric.

The natives shared the evening meal. They plied us with questions about Bataan, refusing to believe it had fallen.

After camouflaging the plane, we slept on the floor of a Nipa hut. Next morning we were starting repairs when a heavy Japanese bomber flew directly overhead. Apparently he didn't sight our plane.

Sneed worked on the engine, taking out sand and water, and patching the damage. His only tools were a bolo (knife) and a small screw driver.

Meanwhile natives, gathering from as far as twenty miles distant, said they could get gasoline. But none of us put much faith in the promise because there were no automobiles on the island.

We had located an old map and discovered we were 200 miles from the nearest friendly base—all across water. Nevertheless, Franks and I began building a runway across the soft sand with the help of a few Filipinos and one shovel.

MAKE A RUNWAY

In three days we had completed an improvised runway at a cost of fourteen pesos for labor and the purchase of coconut fiber which was used to stabilize the sand.

On the third day everybody had a terrific scare when an unidentified launch was seen approaching. The natives quickly gathered their few belongings and took to the hills with us behind them. But a small boy soon brought word the launchmen were friendly. They were Europeans from a nearby island who offered us transportation in the launch if we were unable to get gasoline. They also gave us food and coffee.

Later that afternoon, Filipinos appeared rolling a fifty-gallon drum of aviation gasoline plainly marked "Cavite Navy Yard." The natives said it had washed ashore some time before.

We strained the gasoline through a handkerchief and poured it into the plane's tank. We had a total of fifty-five gallons which we estimated was sufficient to reach friendly territory.

NEED FOR HASTE

But Franks, who had been exploring in a native double outrigger boat, returned with word that our plight had been spread by bamboo wireless to a nearby Japanese-held island, making immediate departure imperative.

After a last inspection of the runway, we shook hands with the natives. It was 5:03 o'clock.

Franks and I got in the rear and Sneed climbed into the pilot's seat. The plane raced down the runway full throttle, zig-zagging all the way. Finally it got into the air and cleared menacing coral rocks by a few feet.

We were all so scared we had no strength to look back. The bent propeller was unable to pull the plane above 2,000 feet where it rattled like an old car. After a half hour of flying, the headwind grew stronger while an ominous cloud coming rapidly closer increased our anxiety to reach a shoreline before dusk.

Near sunset, dark clouds enclosed the plane and we were drenched with rain in the open cockpits. Sneed rolled and banked searching for an opening in the clouds and attempting to keep his course.

We flew this way for an hour, and then it was pitch dark. Finally we saw the shoreline of an island. Sneed circled low and we peered over the side at high, waving palms without an open space in sight. It was raining hard and harder.

GAS RUNNING LOW

Sneed said we had ten minutes more gas left with which to try to find a cove and set the plane down in the water. We tightened our "Mae Wests." Franks tied a safety belt around his right leg and my left leg, since it was not large enough to encircle both. Sneed reached back, shook hands with both of us and said, "Well, this is it."

Sneed flew gradually lower, the engine barking and spitting fire. He skimmed along beautifully until the prop hit the water, then he cut the engine, which was so hot after four hours flying we feared an explosion.

The plane hit easily. Then, as the nose sank, it flipped over. We were hanging with our heads in the water. Sneed was thrown clear. Franks and I loosened the safety belt and made the surface where we all clung to the wings.

I had a flashlight and Franks, who was unable to swim, told me to dive into the sinking cockpit. I rescued a can of corn beef. We started paddling to the shore which was some 500 yards distant. But the life preservers were incorrectly fastened and kept choking us.

SNEED SAVES PILOT

Sneed supported Franks, who twice swallowed water and sank despite the life preserver. Sneed saved his fellow pilot's life.

After an hour's fight through high waves and outgoing tide, I made shore, exhausted, and climbed the rocks to shine a beacon light for Sneed and Franks.

Again we didn't know on what island we had landed. We feared it possibly was Cebu, which the Japanese had invaded a few days previously. By the dim glow of the flashlight we inventoried our possessions. Wrist watches stopped by salt water, one compass, one .45 automatic, a package of water-soaked cigarettes and wallets.

Despite our utter exhaustion, the bugs prevented us from sleeping. Franks had lost his shoes in the plane crash. We used underwear and handkerchiefs to bind his feet.

At dawn friendly natives came to the beach and gave us food—including overripe eggs—and a few cans which native divers salvaged from the wrecked plane.

ALWAYS HUNGRY

Throughout that whole trip none of us was able to get enough to eat. We were always hungry. The natives generously shared what they had, but we found it didn't provide much nourishment.

We managed to hire a fishing boat and made a slow, day-long trip to the island of Panay, where we were informed that eight Japanese ships were en route to make a landing, probably the following morning.

We had a hearty meal with United States army officers, but at dawn the next day we were awakened and told that the Japanese already were landing only four miles distant.

We went to the airfield and found an old monoplane which had been condemned as unflyable six years before, but had been lately reconditioned.

Six of us crowded into that old plane built for three and it got us into the air with Major W. R. Bradford, San Antonio, Texas, piloting.

ESCAPE DETECTION

We flew over the city of Iloilo, where we saw Japanese boats tied up at the piers unloading tanks, automobiles and troops. The Japanese didn't open up with anti-aircraft fire, apparently believing the plane was Japanese.

It was a "heart in mouth" flight to another island, skimming over the water in the hope of avoiding detection by Japanese patrols.

Major Bradford landed the plane as three Japanese dive bombers swept down the field, but we scattered for cover and no one was hurt.

From now on all three of us are living on borrowed time.

(How Schedler managed to reach Australia from this island is not disclosed and may remain a secret to protect others who may be taking the same tortuous route.)

SO FAR SO GOOD

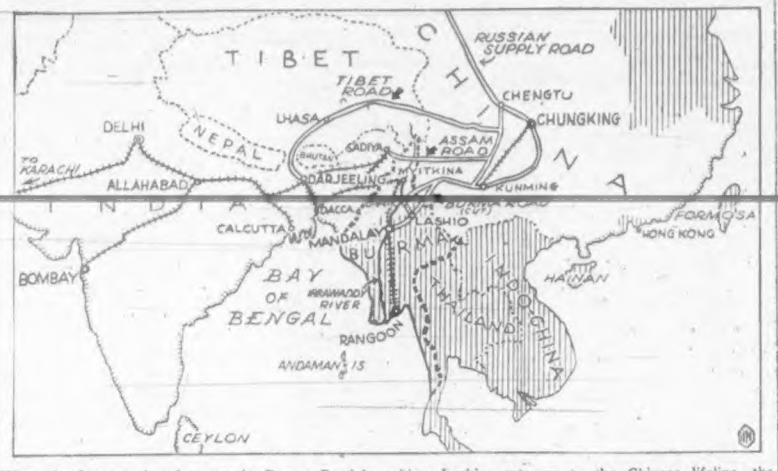

Did you hear about the bloke who went to make an inventory of a furnished house?

The first thing he came across was a cocktail cabinet.

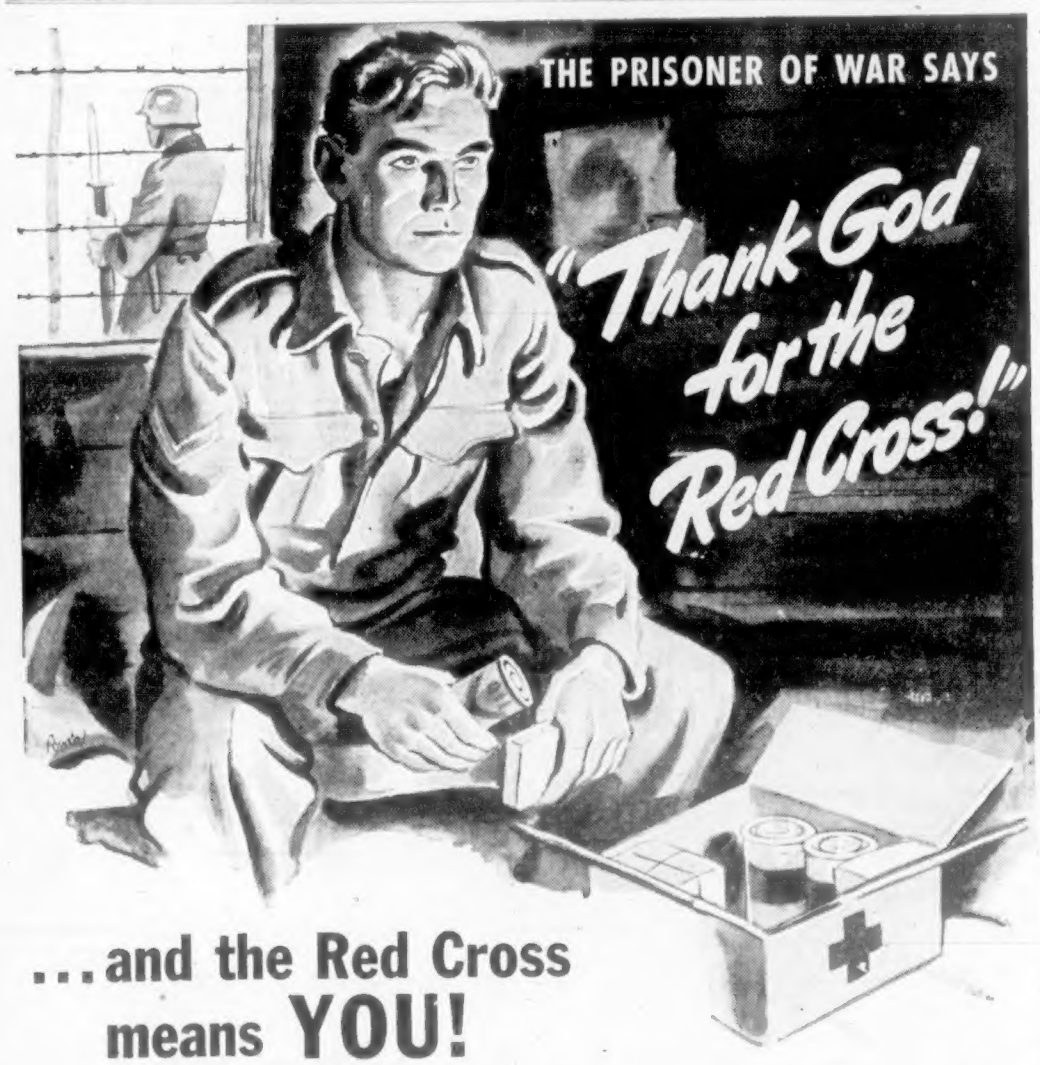

When the lady of the house came in about two hours later she found this bloke lying on the floor.

There was only one entry in his notebook: "One revolving carpet."

Tortuous Supply Routes to China

When the Japanese invaders cut the Burma Road by taking Lashio, gateway to the Chinese lifeline, the problem of moving supplies into China became one of major importance. This map shows what routes must be followed now. The entrance routes from Russia, difficult and tenuous, are still open, and there are some winding caravan trails from Tibet. A new road, from the railhead of Sadiya in Assam across the Himalayas in Southern China, is being built. Rail transportation from Calcutta and other Indian ports is available, but even this is threatened by Japanese naval units and planes. Shaded area on map indicates territory Japan controls.

...and the Red Cross means YOU!

IN PRISON CAMPS, in enemy hospitals, in the dark hours of loneliness or suffering, men voice that cry.

"We are getting one food parcel per week and 50 cigs. from the Red Cross." . . . "These parcels enable us to enjoy home comforts and keep up health and spirits." So they write.

And what of the relatives? "I feel so happy to think of your kindness to my poor boy, in a prison camp for two years. God bless you all." . . . "It gives us great comfort to know our husbands are getting the comforts they need." . . . "When we got your card about our brother, we felt as though the sun suddenly shone."

More than a million parcels have been sent up to now, to prisoners of war. YOUR money makes the work of the Red Cross possible. The need is great—and GROWING. You never have failed them—you will not fail them now. Open your heart and your purse strings—Give Generously.

"I'M NOT BRAGGING . .

but I've helped to build a Blenheim Bomber"

This is the true story of a life insurance man who sought some definite way to back up his three sons on active service overseas, in the armed forces. One day he learned that, through his company's investments in Victory Bonds, he was making a substantial contribution to Canada's war program. Here is his statement:

"I did some arithmetic. I was amazed. I did it over again. And then my old spine stiffened. By George! I'm in this war after all! I—John Doe—insurance agent—old! Faint at heart! Weak at the knees! I've done something for my country! 1939-1940-1941—three years premium income. Almost three hundred thousand dollars in cash—flowing into my Company and flowing out again to smash Hitler—as a result of my personal efforts.

"Why, I've helped to build a Blenheim Bomber—or train ten pilots—or feed a Tank Battalion of a thousand men for a whole year. I'm not bragging—I'm very humble about it."

This is typical of how hundreds of life insurance men are playing their part in this war.

WHY DO WE SAY "A NUMBER ONE?"

We are so accustomed to "A-1" or "A Number One" as part of our business lexicon, that it simply is taken for granted, with never a thought as to why or how this particular combination should signify "first-class," "prime," "of the best quality."

Composed of the first letter of the alphabet and the first of the numerals, it is not illogical that "A-1" should connote "superior"; this, however, is not quite how it started.

"A-1" originally was a symbol in the code used to grade vessels in the shipping register of Lloyd's, in England, pioneers in marine insurance.

In this code "A" signified the very best rating for the condition of the hull; similarly, the figure "1" was reserved for the finest state of the rigging and stores; thus, the combination "A-1" was applied only to ships of the first rank, while "A-2" and "A-3" for example, were used to designate an inferior classification.

The earliest appearance in literature of "A-1" was in Captain Marryat's "Peter Simple," published in 1834.

Letters had been used in England to indicate character since 1764, among others, g, m and n, represented good, middling and bad.

A lady who had engaged a new cook made a tour of inspection after she had kept her a week. She found a policeman locked up in the pantry. "How did this man get here?" she asked, severely.

"I'm sure I don't know," was the cool reply; "he must have been left over by the last cook."

Little Stories for Bedtime

Why Ol' Mistah Buzzard Has a Bald Head

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Ol' Mistah Buzzard sat on a tall dead tree in the Green Forest and looked down at the circle of new friends, the little people of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest, who were eagerly waiting to hear how it happens that he has a bald head. He scratched his head and cleared his throat and then he began.

"Once upon a time, long, long ago, when the world was young," said Ol' Mistah Buzzard, "mah great-grandfather a thousand times removed had feathers on his head, just like ol' King Eagle and ol' Mistah Hawk and ol' Mistah Falcon, and all the other birds.

"Now, Grandfather Buzzard was very proud of his big broad wings, and used to spend most of his time sailing around in the sky and minding his own business. Ol' King Eagle was very fierce and very strong, just as Mr. Eagle, whom you all know, is today; and he was jealous, was ol' King Eagle, as he watched Grandfather Buzzard sailing around in the sky. Yo' see, ol' King Eagle didn't want the other birds to admire anyone but himself. One day he overheard Mistah Sparrer say that he wished he could fly like Grandfather Buzzard. Ol' King Eagle flared up right away. Yes, sah, he flared up, for he was quick tempered, was ol' King Eagle.

"'Pooh!' said he. 'That no count Buzzard can't fly.'

"Little Mistah Sparrer was sitting snug and safe in the middle of a thorn tree, and he was sassy, was little Mistah Sparrer. Yes, sah, he cert'nly was sassy, for he shouts out:

"You see he had been so high the sun had scorched them off."

"'He can beat yo' flying any day, even if yo' are the king.'

"A lot of the other birds heard him and ol' King Eagle knew that he just had to make sassy little Mistah Sparrer swallow his words. So when Grandfather Buzzard came down to earth again ol' King Eagle demanded that they have a race to see who could fly the highest. Grandfather Buzzard was willing to oblige ol' King Eagle, for he didn't want any trouble.

"Everybody came to see that race, everybody who could fly or walk or creep. Ol' King Eagle ordered his cousins, ol' Mistah Hawk and ol' Mistah Falcon, to go along too, though what for nobody knew till afterward.

"Up they went, round and round in circles till everybody grew dizzy watching them. Round and round, up and up into the blue, blue sky they went until they were just tiny, tiny specks, and then they went clear out of sight of those watching them down on the earth.

"They were gone a long time. Then sharp-eyed, sassy little Mistah Sparrer shouted: 'Here they come!'

"Sure enough, there were some little specks up in the sky. They grew bigger and bigger, but there were only three. Pretty soon ol' King Eagle dropped down to earth, and he was clean beat out.

"'Where's Mistah Buzzard?' shouted everyone.

"'I beat him so badly that he was ashamed of himself and flew away,' said ol' Mistah Eagle, and his cousins, ol' Mistah Hawk and ol' Mistah Falcon, said it was so.

"Just when everybody was getting ready to go home Grandfather Buzzard came sailing down, and he didn't seem the least bit tired. Everybody began to hoot at him, until sassy little Mistah Sparrer shouted:

"'What's the matter with your head, Mistah Buzzard?'

"Everybody crowded around to look. Grandfather Buzzard hadn't got a feather left on his head. No, sah, hadn't got a single little feather. Yo' see he'd been so high the sun had scorched them all off. When Ol' King Eagle saw that, he just sneaked off without a word, and his cousins, ol' Mistah Hawk and ol' Mistah Falcon, went with him, because everyone knew that they had told a lie.

"And ever since then mah family has had bald heads," concluded ol' Mistah Buzzard, proudly.

Business and Professional Directory, Want Ads

The Daily Colonist

RATES FOR CLASSIFIED OR WANT ADVERTISEMENTS

Two cents a word each insertion, twelve cents a word a week, with a minimum of ten words, cash with order. No advertisement accepted for less than twenty-five cents.

Death and Funeral Notices, $1.00 first insertion; $1.00 for each additional insertion. Marriages, Cards of Thanks and [illegible]

Birth Notices, $1.00 per insertion.

Advertisers who desire may have replies addressed to a box at The Colonist and forwarded to their private address. A charge of ten cents is made for mailing replies. In this case add three words (Box...... Colonist) to the count for the number of words.

Out-of-town readers of our advertisements ask advertisers to give address as well as phone numbers, as it is not always possible to communicate through the phone.

Any claim to rebate on account of error or omissions must be made within thirty days from the date of the same, otherwise claim will not be allowed.

The Colonist will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue.

The Colonist service is available every day from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., excepting Sunday. Just call Empire 4114.

To insure insertion, Classified Ads should reach The Colonist before 8 p.m. on the day previous to publication.

Classified Ads for The Sunday Colonist will be accepted up to 8 p.m. on Saturdays.

ADRIFT IN LIFEBOATS

AN EAST COAST CANADIAN PORT, May 11 (CP).—Reporting nine men killed when a torpedo sank their merchant vessel in the Western Atlantic, twenty-three survivors have been brought to this port.

Picked up by fishermen as they drifted in three lifeboats, only one of the survivors was seriously injured. He suffered crushed feet while the others were nursing slight burns, aggravated by exposure. All were placed in hospital.

Stocks Resume Move Forward On Wall Street

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP).—The stock market resumed its forward move today after considerable early hesitancy attributed to light profit selling on the two weeks' advance.

Steels, motors, rubbers and assorted specialties came up to the fore in the final hour and, while declines were plentiful at the close, fractional plus signs predominated. A handful of favorites was up 1 to 2 points on restricted volume.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks finished with a net gain of .2 of a point at 34.2. Dealings were on the slow side although expanding a bit at the last. Transfers totalled 290,650 shares against 313,209 last Friday.

The war news continued as a bullish factor in speculative and investment quarters, but some potential buyers inclined to hold back pending Washington developments anent taxes and further economic control.

Steels were aided by another jump in this week's estimated mill operations to the highest mark on record on the basis of ingot capacity. Oils were reluctant performers as widespread gasoline rationing confronted producing companies. Belief the synthetic rubber programme was progressing satisfactorily drew attention to some stocks of the rubber companies.

Several new highs for the year were in evidence. Among these were Goodrich and Goodyear common and preferred. The last named was up 2, along with Eastman Kodak and Coca Cola. A point or so advanced were United States Rubber, preferred, Union Carbide and Owens-Illinois.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT . . . . By Ripley

Mathematical Sleeper—Abraham De Moivre (1667-1754), the mathematician, was a French Huguenot who was compelled to flee France and settle in England. He died by somnolence (too much sleep) after sleeping habitually twenty and more hours per day. He said: "I shall sleep a quarter of an hour more each day, and the day I sleep the clock round I shall die." This prophecy was fulfilled on November 27, 1754, when De Moivre failed to wake. He is the creator of the law of probabilities. Insurance is greatly indebted to him for having calculated the table of mortality in its initial stage.

Rebekah Lodges Make Valuable War Donation

The recent official visit of Mrs. Marie Sommerville, president of the Provincial Assembly to Colfax Rebekah Lodge, No. 1, I.O.O.F., was a highlight in the history of the organization. Colfax Lodge celebrated its fifty-fourth anniversary last December and was the first Rebekah Lodge instituted in British Columbia, which now has forty-six with a membership of over 3,700. In 1941 the Rebekah Lodges in British Columbia contributed over $4,000 to war relief as well as over $3,000 to work in the order. Already this year nearly $600 has been contributed to the I.O.O.F. Home Fund of the Rebekah Lodges and Assembly and $6,000 given to the Provincial Red Cross. It was the first organization to purchase Utilican vans for the use of the Red Cross. The lodges have also purchased several thousands of dollars in War Bonds. All Rebekah Lodges are sewing and knitting for the Red Cross and there are many lodges which maintain rooms in their local hospitals.

SPECIAL ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Sommerville's visit was the occasion of a gathering in the lodge rooms, where a banquet was held. A business meeting was held later and the president was accompanied by the following suite: Mrs. J. Tewnion, Vancouver, Assembly warden; Mrs. A. Merrithew, P.P., Assembly secretary; Mrs. B. Taylor, P.P., Vancouver; Mrs. J. Grant, P.P., and Mrs. M. Dempster, P.P., fifty-four-year charter members of Colfax Lodge; Mrs. E. Doane, P.V.P.; Mrs. M. Paver, deputy president of District No. 1, Victoria; Mrs. O. Wotherspoon, Nanaimo, Assembly conductor; Mr. A. McCabe, deputy grand master; Mr. B. Shaver, P.G.P. of British Columbia, and Mr. Taylor, P.G.P., of Alberta, the guests of honor being introduced by Mrs. E. Sim, Assembly marshal, of Vancouver.

The following day a luncheon was held at Terry's Rose Room, 109 members attending, with Mrs. Sommerville as guest of honor. Another social gathering at which she was guest of honor was a tea given in Spencer's lounge by Mrs. M. Paver, D.D., and Mrs. E. Baron, N.G., of Colfax Lodge. The Assembly officers, past and present, and the noble grand and vice-grand of Carne Lodge, No. 45, shared the honors.

The next annual session of the Rebekah Assembly of British Columbia will be held in Hotel Vancouver, on June 9, 10 and 11, when Mrs. Sommerville will preside, the fifth member from Colfax Lodge of Victoria to hold that distinction since the British Columbia Assembly was instituted thirty-four years ago.

RED CROSS

GORDON HEAD UNIT

The Gordon Head Unit of the Canadian Red Cross Society, under the convenership of Mrs. E. H. Mitchell, will hold a garden party at "Strangewood," the home of Mrs. S. L. McMullen, on July 1.

VICTORIA WEST

At the monthly meeting of the Victoria West Red Cross Unit it was reported that as result of the silver tea held on April 9, the sum of $15 had been sent to headquarters, and during the month of April, fifty-three knitted articles and twenty-four sewn articles had been sent in. A number of babies' garments and shelter rugs were sent to the Overseas League as well as an afghan made and donated by Mrs. Hunt, a member who is in her eightieth year.

TO GIVE ADDRESS

The Hon. Mr. Justice P. H. Gordon, chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Canadian Red Cross Society, Toronto, will be in Victoria on Monday, May 18, and arrangements have been made for him to address a meeting of the executive committee, sub-committees, all units of the Victoria city and district branch, and other interested friends of the Red Cross Society. The meeting will be held in the Y.M.C.A. auditorium, 1203 Blanshard Street, at 2:15 p.m.

Mr. Justice Gordon is an excellent speaker and has given years of service in Red Cross work. It is hoped that a large number of members and friends will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear at first hand from one who is in possession of all the facts.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

PARKSVILLE

A successful fashion show arranged by Mr. J. E. Kingsley, Parksville, was held in the Memorial Hall, Errington, on April 10, and as a result the Women's Institute raised $30. The May meeting was held in the Parish Hall, Parksville, on Thursday, May 7, the president, Mrs. Tryon, in the chair. Following the completion of business, a competition was held for the best home-made dress, the winner being Mrs. Braybrook.

ESQUIMALT

The Esquimalt Women's Institute will hold its monthly meeting at the Parish Hall this evening at 7.45 o'clock.

DR. O. M. JONES CHAPTER

The Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter will meet at headquarters this evening at 8 o'clock.

What Today Means

"TAURUS"

If May 12 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. and from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

People who can keep their composure under all circumstances will have a great advantage on May 12, so make up your mind that you will keep cool and collected. May 12 will be a most inauspicious day on which to let your tongue wag too freely, so endeavor to keep yours under control. Good sportsmanship will pay dividends on this date so, if you should have an opportunity to display this trait, do not fail to exhibit it without hesitancy. Smiles often can work wonders, so endeavor to smile as much as possible and your results probably will be most gratifying. Sensitive people should be handled with kid gloves on this day, for it will take very little to offend them, and conditions are such that these persons may be in a mood to go out of their way to hunt for trouble. Married, engaged, and courting couples, will do well to overlook the shortcomings of one another on this date, if they do not want to indulge in needless bickering over trifling faults.

If you are a woman and May 12 is your birthday, an intensely emotional nature may keep you in a rather turbulent state of mind, unless, of course, you make an effort to control it. You ought to have enough will power to master any weakness of which you are conscious, so, for your own happiness, endeavor to correct your faults and develop your strong points. In friendship seek sincerity rather than flattery, and always give it the loyalty which it deserves. Your efforts in promotional, missionary, social welfare, literary, artistic, educational, or in specialized commercial work, should enable you to make your way in notable fashion. If both you and your husband work in harmony to make your marriage successful, you probably will be rewarded with much happiness.

The child born on May 12 generally grows into a cheerful, generous, fun-loving youngster, fully capable of doing whatever is expected of him. A sympathetic, gentle nature ought to endear this youngster to his family and friends. An interesting and successful future appears to be ahead for children born under this zodiacal sign.

If you are a man and May 12 is your natal day, your capacity for handling details and difficult situations may result in some outstanding achievements on your part, especially if you engage in military, engineering, manufacturing, singing, acting, legal, medical, educational, theological or scientific work.

ANOTHER CHANGE

An old-age pensioner, unable to write, drew a circle on her form instead of the usual cross.

"Why didn't you make a cross, as you usually do, Mrs. Green?" asked the postal clerk curiously.

"Well, my dear, it's this way," replied the old lady shyly; "I got married again yesterday and changed my name."

WOULD BE EASIER

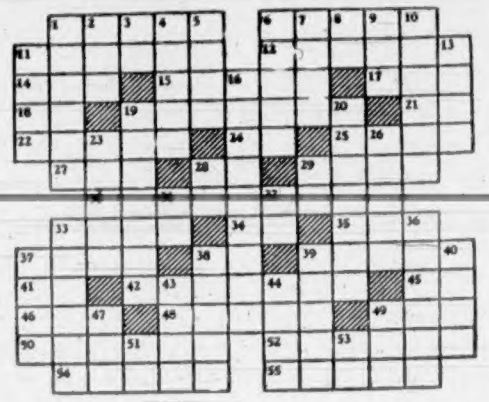

I met a bloke who said, "My kid wants to learn music. What do you think he ought to take up—the piano or the violin?"

"The violin, of course," I told him.

"Why?"

"Well, if you don't like the way he practices, you can chuck the violin out of the window."

ANSWER TO LAST PUZZLE

colon. These adjoining portions of the small intestine are located in the lower right side of the abdomen in the appendix region.

What did these operations reveal? While there were some cases of cancer, tuberculosis, fifty-seven in all (including diseases of the ovaries), there were 943 cases in which the main cause of the trouble was found to be bands of tissue which cause "kinks" in the intestine. These bands pull on the intestine and prevent it from being freely movable.

The presence of these bands was discovered by the use of the barium meal and the barium enema. Under the fluoroscope the course of the barium meal or enema can be followed and the place or places where these cause a stoppage or partial stoppage of the barium meal or enema can be definitely located. The surgeon thus knows exactly where to make the incision to release the intestine by cutting these bands.

In this series, 480 appendices were bound down by these bands, and in 161 cases the appendix was found to be free and normal.

What were the results of this cutting of these bands thus releasing intestine and freeing it of kinks and bends?

A follow-up investigation of two series, in one of which 520 replies to a questionnaire were received, 93 per cent were free of their pain and discomfort. In a second series, of 147 replies received, 82 per cent reported complete relief from the right side pain.

This operation is not dangerous and is sometimes done under a local anaesthetic.

PERSISTENT PAIN IN LOWER RIGHT SIDE OF ABDOMEN

One of the points of disagreement among physicians is the matter of chronic appendicitis. Many physicians state that there is such a condition and others are equally sure that, while the pain or discomfort is in the region of the appendix, it is not due to an inflammation of the appendix, but to other causes.

What may be the answer to this problem is the report in The Canadian Medical Association Journal by Dr. L. J. Carter, Brandon, Manitoba.

Dr. Carter has studied 1,000 operations that have been performed at the Bigelow Clinic upon the end of the second part of the small intestine—ileum—and the beginning of the third part, the

WILL CARRY OUT SIDEWALK REPAIRS

Esquimalt Council last night authorized renewal of the sidewalk on the west side of Head Street from Esquimalt Road to Lyle Street, at an estimated cost of $1,000. The municipal clerk was instructed to write the military authorities requesting aid in the project.

A letter from L. C. Ritter, Army and Navy Taxi, protesting soliciting by city independent taxis at the Esquimalt Naval Dockyard and Naval Barracks, was received and filed by the council. Reeve Lockley and members of the council will pay the first of a series of visits to Esquimalt first aid posts next Monday, at the request of the A.R.P. first aid officer and members of the posts.

Following receipt of a letter from I. S. Smith, pastor of the Foursquare Gospel Church, Esquimalt Road, concerning tax exemption of church property, the municipal clerk was instructed to ascertain the title of the property. The application of W. H. Walsh as official stenographer was accepted. The Percentage Addition By-Law was given final reading and passed by the council.

Hospital Shower At Salt Spring

Organized by members of the board of directors and Ladies' Auxiliary, the annual Hospital Day was celebrated at the Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital last Saturday.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. E. Walter and the matron, Miss K. Bailey, while from about 150 residents a splendid assortment of shower gifts was received by Mrs. W. M. Mouat and Miss A. Lees. Amongst the donations were a large quantity of pyrex, glass, linen, groceries, eggs, fruit, vegetables, marmalade, bottled fruit, etc., with many more to follow next week.

Lovely pink tulips, blue irises and lilac were donated for the floral decorations, which were carried out by Miss H. Purdy.

Tea, provided by the matron and members of the auxiliary and under the convenership of Mrs. M. B. Mouat, assisted by Mrs. G. Lowe, Mrs. H. Noon, Miss H. Purdy and Anna St. Denis, was served on the veranda at small tables arranged in white and yellow.

The sum of $30.15 was realized by a stall of babies' woolies, etc., presided over by Miss M. Lees and Mrs. J. Dewar; $10.30 from a contest, in charge of Miss Betty Kingsbury, the prize, a basket of candy, made and donated by Miss M. Holford, being won by Miss Peggy McDermott; $2 from tea cup reading by Mrs. Bob Woods and Mrs. C. F. Roberts. These three amounts, realizing $42.45, will go towards the funds of the hospital auxiliary.

The bunches of lily of the valley, sold for Mother's Day, were donated by Mrs. T. Reid, Fulford Harbor.

GANGES

The members of the Ganges Branch of the A.Y.P.A. held their regular meeting recently, in the Parish Room with the president, Rosemary Loosmore, in the chair. An address was given by Archdeacon G. H. Holmes, officers were installed and correspondence read by the secretary. A quiz programme on general knowledge was prepared and conducted by Peggy Mouat and Julie Hall. Following a series of games organized by Gwen King, Nancy Hall, Gordon Rogers and Lawrence Cartwright, refreshments were served. A lantern lecture on Shakespeare's country, Stratford-on-Avon, has been arranged for the next meeting.

METCHOSIN HOSTESS CLUB

The monthly meeting of the Metchosin Hostess Club was held at the home of Miss Gwen Ellwood, "Ivygreen," Metchosin, recently. Miss Phyllis Houghton was elected president to succeed Mrs. W. Rothe.

The club will be guests of the 17th Searchlight Batteries at Mary Hill and William Head. Plans were made for a dance to be held in the Metchosin Hall on Friday; the Victoria Rifles Band will provide music for dancing.

Later the club hopes to hold a beach party and an invitation dance for men of the services. Mrs. A. D. Ellwood kindly offered her home for a tennis party and buffet supper for entertainment of the boys in camp. At the conclusion of the meeting Miss Gwen Ellwood served refreshments.

FIRST-AID EXAMINATION

The St. John Ambulance first-aid examination for wardens and workers was held recently at the Consolidated School, Ganges.

The examiner was Dr. Dallas Perry, F.R.C.S., who was assisted by Archdeacon Holmes and Miss I. Goodrich. The successful candidates were as follows: Mrs. V. C. Best, Mrs. R. Brown, Mrs. N. Howland, Mrs. Macgregor Macintosh, Mrs. A. R. Price, Mrs. R. Toynbee, Miss Molyneux, Capt. V. C. Best, Messrs. J. Bond, A. B. Elliot, C. A. Goodrich, S. W. Hoole, N. Howland, S. Rogers, F. Stacey, O. Springford. Mrs. Toynbee has now obtained her medallion as she has passed two previous examinations.

WORD IS GOOD

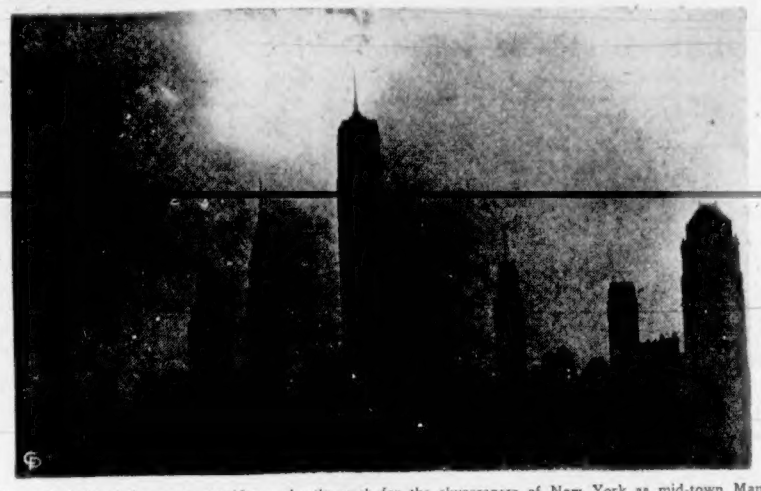

"I went into the grocer's shop on Friday and he asked me about paying the bill."

"But you said that last week—and the week before that."

"Well," I said, quite indignant, "and didn't I keep my word?"

New York Unable to Black Out Moon

The eerie light of the moon provides a ghostly wash for the skyscrapers of New York as mid-town Manhattan locks up her glittering jewels of illumination during a twenty-minute blackout. This first large-scale attempt to darken New York was pronounced 95 per cent perfect, but it proved that the great city would be clearly outlined during a bright moonlit night.

Murder on the Avenue

By CAROLYN WELLS

(Copyright, 1942, by Carolyn Wells)

CHAPTER XXXVII

"Do you know who it was?"

"Yes. It was Van Dyke Haynes."

"Do you think he would be capable of murder?"

"As capable as I am. I believe every one is capable of murder, given sufficient motive and opportunity."

"That may be, but there's no way to prove it. Then I take it, Haynes was more in love with the lady than you were."

"I was not in love with her at all. Her too desperate flirtations disgusted me."

"Now, let me get this programme right. We are granting that Mr. McCleod went up to his father's apartment, as his sister says, and after that, you four young men were more or less with his wife in the coat room, and we are trying to find which of the four is responsible for the death of the lady."

"Right."

"You went with her from the elevator to the coat room, and after a short scene, she told you to run away, lest someone come in and see you two together. And she said it might be her husband. Now, where did you go?"

"Right across the hall from the coat room, there is a little writing room. I went in there and stayed to think things over. I wanted to go home, but I didn't think it right to go without saying good night to her, and I just sat there and smoked for a while. The door was wide open and I saw all the crowd milling about. I saw all the fellows go in and out of the coat room, and a few girls, too."

"What did you notice of the ones we are most interested in? The ones who were with you at the police inquiry, when you were arrested?"

"I saw Murray and Martin Delevan go into the coat room. I didn't see Van go in, but I saw him in the hall once or twice. Well, anyhow, I decided to go in the room, say good night to Alma whether anyone was with her or not, and then go home. I went in, and she was alone, and she began her vamping me again, and she was lying on the chaise longue, and she put her arms round my neck and drew me down to her, and that must be when I grasped at the back of the couch—the frame is chromium—and I probably left finger-prints. And then I heard someone at the door, and I unclasped her arms, and I'm afraid I jerked myself away from her, and said, 'Good night, Alma,' and fled. Alma was used to luring men, and usually, I think they were glad to be lured. One of her admirers, for some reason lost his head and—perhaps to prevent her screaming—he put the big pillow over her face, and held it down longer than he meant to. I don't believe he meant to kill her—but when Alma gets in a tantrum she screams."

"And it may have been Haynes?"

"Yes, it may have been. I seemed to think it was his voice that said, 'Are you here, Alma?' But I am not positive. It was Van's voice or one greatly like it."

"Where did you go then?"

"I had my hat and coat and I went downstairs, intending to go right home. But there was some fun going on in the bar, and they called me to come in. The butler took my things and I went in. So I was still there when Doris Day gave the alarm."

"Now, if that was Haynes who came into the coat room as you went out by the other door, and if he did have a stormy session with Mrs. McCleod, would he have had the opportunity to kill her with the pillow, unseen? Weren't there other people coming for their coats, or other girls coming in?"

"There wouldn't have been such a chance, except that just then that stunt was on down in the bar. It was a well-known impersonator who was doing his stuff. He's a night club star. So, as soon as it became known that he was down there, everybody upstairs went down to see him."

"Was Mr. Haynes down there?"

"I saw him there after a while. But I don't know how long it was after I came down, that he came down. The actor was claiming all our attention. It was fully half an hour after I came down that I saw Haynes."

"Well, this is sure," said Stone, after a pause. "Haynes went into the room where Alma was after you had left her there alive."

"Yes—if that was his voice I heard. I couldn't swear to it; but I knew it more from the way he pronounced her name. We all say it Ahlma. But Van says it like the first syllable of Albert, Al-ma. And whoever came in that door, pronounced her name that way."

"Mr. Herrick, that sounds to me like proof. But I'm sorry to say, I fear the authorities will not accept it as such. Another thing that bothers me is that your memories of people coming and going, beside being somewhat vague, have no timing by the clock. I suppose you do not know the exact time or even approximate time that any of these men went in or out?"

"No, I don't."

"Do you remember anybody, perhaps not of your own crowd, coming for his coat, as you sat in the writing room? He might give us the time."

"'Fraid I can't be very definite. I remember seeing two or three of the older men, Mr. McCleod's friends, but they mostly stayed in the hall, looking over the balcony rail at the dancers below. And, too, I doubt they could fix the time."

"Well, I'll do what I can, if anything, to learn from other witnesses. The servants might help?"

"Dickson, the valet, was around off and on. He'll probably know something. And Foo Chow, the butler, was upstairs occasionally. Yes, they may be helpful. But if you get a complete time-table, how will it name the murderer for you?"

"There will have to be sidelights of evidence. And I must be going now. I want to talk with Mr. McCleod."

Esquimalt Chapter

The Mary Croft Esquimalt Chapter met yesterday afternoon at headquarters, the regent, Mrs. Mackenzie-Grieve, in the chair. The regent gave a brief report of the Provincial Chapter meeting at the Empress Hotel in April. A letter was read from National Chapter stating that all chapters must purchase wool through a National allotment. Mrs. R. J. Sprott, Provincial president, was appointed the chapter's delegate to the National annual meeting. Mrs. E. V. Finland, reporting for the Red Cross, stated that she had collected $71.99 from penny posters displayed in Esquimalt. Two old and valued members, Mrs. W. Booth and Mrs. Youngman, were welcomed back. The tea hostesses were Mesdames F. Crowe, Mrs. H. Cresine and Mrs. Mackenzie-Grieve. Mrs. Angwin, Echoes secretary, reminded members of the Empire Day services to be held at Queen Victoria's statue on May 23 at 10 a.m. and the intercession service at First United Church on May 31. Notice was given of the next Municipal Chapter meeting on May 26 at 7:30 p.m. Mrs. Quinn reported a gramophone and records received, in addition to 5,340 magazines, ten games, thirty packs of cards and sixteen pounds of tinfoil. Mrs. Youlton, child welfare convener, reported that one of the chapter's adopted boys from the Solarium was now a patient in the Jubilee Hospital, and that she had received the loan of a radio for him from a local music store. Mrs. Bishop, war convener, reported turning in knitted goods valued at $9.65 and urged members to do better next month. Mrs. Quinn reported carrying the standard at the session of the Provincial annual meeting.

Navy League Chapter

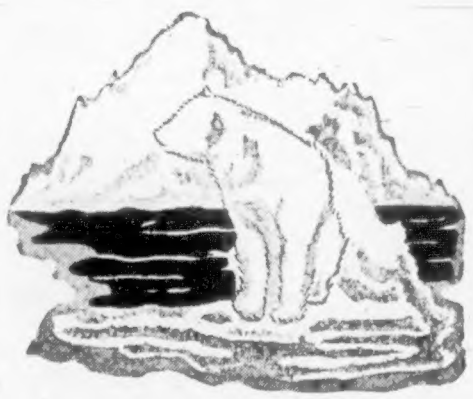

The Navy League Chapter met at headquarters last evening, Mrs. J. L. Ford, the regent, in the chair. A farewell tea was held recently at the home of Mrs. J. L. Ford for Mrs. [illegible], president of the chapter, who has left for Eastern Canada. She was presented by the members of the executive with a Morocco leather purse, a gift of appreciation from all the members. Miss M. George, who is succeeding Mrs. Hessey, was welcomed to the meeting last night. It was arranged to hold a bingo party at Prince Robert House on June 3 to entertain the sailors. Mrs. K. Hanbury will be in charge of the games and Mrs. E. Landheim in charge of the supper, which will be provided without charge for the boys. Tentative plans were made for a garden party at the home of Mrs. Curtis Sampson in aid of the Spitfire fund. Mrs. R. Renfrew offered her home, 3380 Quadra Street, for an apron tea which she will convene on Friday afternoon. Each member is expected to attend the tea and to invite a friend. The aprons will be on display and it is hoped that each member will purchase at least one. The winner of the petit-point stool will be announced at the tea. Mrs. [illegible] socks, mitts and helmets given to Mrs. Quinn for the crew of a merchant ship who had lost everything at sea. Twelve scarves and articles valued at $13.50 for the bombed areas were turned in. The total value of war work for the month was $58.28. The next knitting meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. G. B. Elliott, 1510 Fort Street, on May 18 at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. W. H. Vickers was welcomed into the chapter and Mrs. W. D. McWha was accepted as a new member.

Municipal Chapter

The regular meeting of Municipal Chapter falling on a public holiday, the date has been changed to Tuesday, May 26, at 7:30 p.m.

Ganges Chapter

Hostesses for the recent I.O.D.E. telephone bridge, organized by Mrs. Graham Shove, convener of the Navy League, for the equipment of a bed in Esquimalt House, were as follows: Mrs. Jack Abbott, Mrs. A. J. Eaton, Mrs. W. M. Mouat, Mrs. F. H. Newnham, Mrs. Dallas Perry, Mrs. T. F. Speed, Mrs. Cecil Springford, Mrs. G. Shove, Mrs. N. W. Wilson, Misses K. Bailey, A. and M. Lees, June Mitchell. The highest scores were turned in by Mrs. E. Lockwood, who won the first lady's prize and Mr. F. H. Newnham, the first gentleman's. Mrs. Leigh Spencer, the lady's consolation and Mr. A. J. Eaton, the gentleman's. A pair of pillowcases were donated towards the bed by Mrs. W. T. Burkitt.
